Accident Fund Fee Levied on Motorist Will Be Eliminated

Wismer Announces Insurance Plan Completed With B.C. Companies

KELOWNA, May 21 (CP).—Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer said tonight in an address to the Board of Trade here that British Columbia motor vehicle owners would get full insurance coverage without paying the extra $1 fee as was provided for in recent amendments to the Motor Vehicle Act and Insurance Act.

The $1 fee was originally intended for a fund to cover accident costs involving insolvent motorists.

He said this was assured under a scheme just completed between the Provincial Government and British Columbia insurance companies.

Motorists would also be given protection up to $5,000 "if negligence can be established."

The free insurance coverage scheme was devised, Mr. Wismer said, to answer critics of the recently enacted amendments to the Motor Vehicle and Insurance Acts, which provided for a yearly $1 levy on all licence holders to meet insurance costs.

Substantial cuts in present liability insurance premiums are expected to follow the establishment of the system throughout British Columbia, although reduction are unlikely in the first year of operations.

Those who suffer injury or damage at the hands of uninsured drivers will be protected. They will receive compensation from an "unsatisfied judgment fund" as arranged between the Government and the insurance companies.

The guilty driver, in any case in which compensation is paid from the "mercy fund," will remain "grounded" until he has reimbursed the fund.

Authority will be given to peace officers to impound any vehicle in an accident involving death, injury or property damage over $25, and the licence of the vehicle will be canceled if the owner is unable to produce an insurance card or other proof of financial responsibility.

Crown Bearer, Attendants to May Queen

These three misses will play a major role in a ceremony to be held Friday night on the steps in front of the Parliament Buildings when Miss Kay Trevelyan is crowned Victoria's May Queen. Miss Heather Manson, centre, will be crown-bearer. At her left is Miss Brenda Segrist, and to the right is Miss Elizabeth Napier-Hemy, two girls who will act as attendants. The crowning ceremony will commence at 8:30 p.m. It will be followed by a band concert in front of the Legislative Buildings.

Say Kurds Preparing Rebellion

Rising Reported Russian-Inspired

TEHRAN, Iran, May 21 (AP).—Official observers said today a new "Russian-inspired rebellion" is threatened in northwestern Iran where 20,000 Kurdish riflemen are reported organizing their defences against reinforced Iranian army garrisons.

Informants close to the Royal Court said Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi will make a journey to Western Azerbaijan to "seek a peaceful settlement of a misunderstanding between the army and Kurdish tribesmen."

An emissary from Ammar Khan, powerful leader of the Shakkak tribe, arrived in Tehran for consultations with the Government, and Kurdish representatives said they hoped that the Shah's personal intervention would result in a laying down of arms.

The Kurds were reported suspicious of the army's program for disarmament of the Kurds when the army reinforced several garrisons in the area.

Britain's Labor Party May Challenge Leftists

LONDON, May 21 (AP).—Britain's Labor Party leadership, answering left wing charges that it was snubbing Russia and clinging too closely to American policies, declared today that "the Labor Government does not propose to take sides in a line-up for the next world war."

Referring to gibes by left wing "rebel" Labor members that Britain's postwar foreign policy was based on "America provides the money while we provide the men," the Ruling Party said in a booklet:

"That suits us better than providing both men and money."

Issuance of the booklet pointed up the possibility of a showdown with the left wing Labor members, at the Labor Party's annual five-day conference at Margate next week. Decisions of the conference are considered binding on the Labor Government.

Konni Zilliacus, a leader of the "rebel" parliamentary delegation, disclosed that five Labor Party units had drafted a resolution, for submission to the conference, condemning United States aid to Greece and Turkey as "a menace to world peace," and demanding a United Nations investigation of the American policy in Turkey.

The booklet, entitled "Cards on Table"—a phrase used frequently by Foreign Secretary Bevin—was designed partly to disarm the left-wing critics.

The publication said any extending or strengthening of the Anglo-Soviet alliance must not be aimed at "isolating America," and must not require the "censoring of all British press and radio comment which the Soviet leaders might consider unfriendly."

Woman Dies After Crash

Mrs. Ralph Murray, mother of a one-year-old child, who was critically injured when a taxi in which she was a passenger was in collision with an Esquimalt & Nanaimo passenger train near Chemainus Tuesday, died at 7:10 last night in Chemainus Hospital.

Rufus Smith, driver of the vehicle was still unconscious, hospital authorities reported early this morning. He suffered head and internal injuries as well as compound fractures of both legs.

According to British Columbia police the car was hit broadside then carried on the locomotive's cowcatcher for 700 feet.

The collision occurred at a rail crossing over a private secondary road one and a half miles north of Chemainus; the second within two weeks involving an E. & N. train.

Versatile Doormat Wipes and Rings

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., May 21 (AP).—Here's one doormat you don't have to kick around to get service.

Frank Carnahan, mushroom grower, offers an automatic version which wipes off your shoes automatically, rings the doorbell and turns on the porch light.

Carnahan, worried about the amount of dirt carried into his mushroom factory, has applied for a patent.

Child, 7, Falls From Window

Condition of a seven-year-old child who fell from a window of St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday was reported as "satisfactory" last last night.

The child, who was reported to be recovering from a case of measles, was treated for injuries by Dr. A. C. Sinclair.

The mother of the child was also reported to be a patient at the hospital.

Mercy Flight For Logger

VANCOUVER, May 21 (CP).—A 125-mile mercy flight from Fraser Bay to Vancouver may save the life of a logger, Charles Bain, formerly of Ottawa, suffering a possible broken back. A high rigger, he was injured in a 15-foot fall during logging operations.

Lords Give Approval To Transport Scheme

LONDON, May 21 (CP).—The House of Lords tonight approved in principle the Government's scheme to bring Britain's road, rail and canal communications under state control.

There was no division against the bill which Conservative and Liberal peers had agreed to support in principle, while promising that careful scrutiny would be given to it in committee stage.

Lord Addison, Dominions secretary and leader of the House, wound up the debate by saying it would take time to reap all the advantages of the nationalization scheme, but that meanwhile he did not foresee any "catastrophic dislocation," as some peers had suggested.

He said the new transport commission would do much better than the railroad companies had done in catering to foreign tourists.

In the Commonsn Empire defence was the question of the hour. Answering a question from Sir Thomas Moore, Conservative, who wanted specific information as to whether definite plans, acceptable to the United Kingdom and the Dominions, had been yet drawn up, Defence Minister Alexander refused a direct answer.

He said only the Dominions "are consulted as a matter of course on all defence matters of common interest. Consultation is a continuous and confidential process."

Christopher Mayhew, under-secretary for foreign affairs, said consideration was being given to accrediting correspondents from newspapers in the British zone of Germany to London.

Sugar Rations Will Continue

OTTAWA, May 21 (CP).—Canadian sugar storage bins may be starting to bulge but sources in close touch with sugar administration here said tonight it was no indication that sugar rationing would end soon.

"In fact," one source declared, "it would be safe to say that the abandoning of sugar rationing is out of the question for a long time."

The spokesmen explained the bulging sugar bins by saying that Canada now was getting some of her portion of the Cuban sugar crop. Under the international allocation of sugar the actual shipments to Canada were governed by a number of factors and she took the sugar when she could get it and stored it for future use.

Canada's international allocation of sugar will allow her an approximate per capita consumption of about 80 pounds this year, about nine pounds better than last year, but still 10 pounds or more below the prewar per capita consumption.

Modern Fagins Work in City

Evidence that modern juvenile Fagins are operating in Victoria was uncovered yesterday by city police.

Fagin, it will be remembered, was the character in Dickens' "Oliver Twist" who taught his young charges to become expert petty thieves and pickpockets.

Acting on a report from a citizen who claimed his eight-year-old son was being taught to steal articles from local store counters by older youths, police have interviewed two 14-year-old boys.

These boys, according to police reports, have developed a flourishing practice in teaching their younger colleagues to carry out acts of petty thievery in many local business establishments.

Investigation of the case is proceeding.

Greater Industrial Aid to Britain Urged at Foreign Trade Sessions

VANCOUVER, May 21 (CP).—Canadian industry was called upon to extend greater aid to Britain to help her back to industrial vigor and solvency and to improve trade relations with the United States at the opening sessions of the fifth national foreign trade conference here today. The conference is sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in conjunction with the Vancouver Board of Trade's foreign trade week.

Howard T. Mitchell of Vancouver told the conference that Britain, with more than half her Canadian trade credits exhausted, will be out of both Canadian and American dollars some time in 1948.

"The United States loan is half gone and the remainder will buy less than had been expected owing to the rise in price of goods purchased in North America.

"We have, insofar as our two main customers are concerned," Mr. Mitchell said, "a set of facts that adds up as follows:

"1. A coming urgent need of further credits to Britain.

"2. A continued shortage of American dollars for Canada."

He added: "We are confronted with the paradox that in order to prosper fully, keep full employment in Canada and sell to Britain what she needs, we must sell more as well to the United States.

"Unfortunately, though our trade with the United States has grown immensely, it has also grown more than ever unbalanced.

"In 1936 Britain took 42 per cent of Canadian exports and the United States 35¼ per cent. Last year, although our exports to Britain were up about $200,000,000, the United States had stepped up her purchases by more than $500,000,000."

In his plea for greater aid to Britain, Mr. Mitchell asked delegates to remember that "what free enterprise and freedom we have in Canada today, we enjoy because the people of Britain, who now happen to have a minority-elected Socialist Government, put down cold cash and warm blood to buy for us.

"They spent themselves and their wealth, pledged their credit, assumed impossible debts to ward off the destruction of democracy until such time as democracy's full power was gradually organized."

Mr. Mitchell said that the trend to Government bulk-buying must be resisted. "In the hands of governments, foreign trade becomes a weapon of economic warfare. Governments in foreign trade must inevitably lead to governments in domestic trade and that, in turn, is the way to socialism or the corporate state."

Earlier Max W. MacKenzie, of Ottawa, Canada's deputy minister of trade and commerce, warned that in the next few years the nations of the world would not be able to allow sentimental or other intangible reasons to outweigh balance of payment considerations in foreign trade decisions.

World's Dollar Famine May Mean Heavy Cut In Imports From U.S.

Canada May Be Forced To Join With Britain Say Step Would Have Big Effect on Wall Street

LONDON, May 22 (Thursday) (Reuters).—The Daily Mail today said "important talks are taking place in London on the ever-growing world famine of dollars" and that "the outcome may be that Canada, America's best customer, will join Britain and other countries in drastic cuts of United States imports."

"Such a step by Canada would have sensational effect on Wall Street, already nervous over the possibility of a 'trade recession,'" the Conservative paper added.

"Canada's trade deficit with the United States in 1946 was $500,000,000, and this year promises to be $900,000,000. March's deficit was an all-time record."

Discussing Britain's trade policy in the light of the dollar situation, an authoritative spokesman said yesterday that a British commercial credit to Russia may result from talks now under way here between the Board of Trade and a Soviet delegation.

British sources have mention lumber—and wheat as products the United Kingdom would like to get from Russia.

It also was stated authoritatively yesterday that Britain will not make a new approach to the United States for a second loan or for a resumption of lend-lease arrangements.

The Daily Mail editorial said that arrival in London of Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, "has strengthened the expectation that Ottawa may soon call a halt to this mounting dollar debt."

It added: "As Canada's best market, Britain is closely concerned with the Dominion's position. Any action by the two countries to slash their United States imports is likely to be taken simultaneously.

"Britain needs all her dollars because after July 15 we are committed under the United States loan agreement to giving United States dollars on demand to our foreign creditors in current trading.

"So, since Canada cannot go on paying America unless she gets paid more dollars from Britain, and Britain cannot get enough dollars from her own creditors, the need for joint action in curtailing United States imports is clear.

"Taking all her external trade into account, Canada has for the first quarter of 1947 a net over-all credit balance of $44,000,000."

Fire Levels Maine City Industries

Plants Destroyed Loss Near Million

EASTPORT, Me., May 21 (AP).—More than a third of this city's major industry was wiped out tonight in a spectacular fire with loss unofficially estimated at nearly $1,000,000.

Two of the city's six sardine canning factories and the pearl essence plant of the Mearl Corporation, which utilizes scales of the sardine herring, were among more than a score of wooden buildings on the north end of the waterfront razed by flames which drew thousands to the city from nearby American and Canadian communities.

Two firemen were injured—neither seriously—and one employee of the pearl essence plant was unaccounted for.

The razed industrial plants normally employed a total of nearly 300 persons. Currently production was curtailed.

Exploding chemical drums at the essence plant skyrocketed into rain-filled skies. Parts of them landed as far as 100 yards away in the business and residential sections of this city of 3,346 population, the easternmost town in the United States just across Passamaquoddy Bay from New Brunswick.

Strike Ban Ordered For Unions

Two-Year Contract With Steelworkers

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., May 21 (AP).—President Philip Murray today issued an order to the 3,000 locals of the United Steelworkers (CIO) forbidding strikes for the next two years.

Murray, also president of the Steelworkers, said in a letter to local union leaders that recently signed two-year contracts "for most of the members of our union in basic steel and fabricating plants" constitute "one of the most notable achievements in the annals of our nation's collective bargaining history."

Murray said in the letter it is "imperative we understand thoroughly that:

"1. We must meticulously respect provisions of the collective bargaining contract.

"2. That under no circumstances must there be work stoppages during the life of the agreement.

"3. We must resort to the orderly methods of adjudicating our differences by taking recourse to the grievance procedure of the wage agreement up to and including arbitration."

The letter was approved by the Steelworkers' 41-man board of directors at their biennial meeting.

Murray said the wage agreements, which called for a 13-cent-an-hour package pay increase, guaranteed continued production in the steel industry and thereby provided an "opportunity for stabilizing our country's internal economic affairs."

Head of Moslem League Calls for Friendship Pact

Quotes Words Of Churchill

NEW DELHI, May 21 (Reuters).—Mohammed Ali Jinnah, president of the Moslem League, called today for an alliance of friendship and reciprocity between Pakistan (Moslem India) and Hindustan (Hindu India).

Interviewed while the British Cabinet was formulating final plans for transferring power to either a united or divided India, Jinnah explained what the separate State of Parkistan demanded by the Moslem League would mean to India and the rest of the world.

Points made by Jinnah were:

1. The Moslem League will demand a corridor through Hindustan to connect the two groups of Pakistan provinces in Northwestern and Northeastern India.

2. The league will "fight every inch of the way" in opposing partition of Bengal and the Punjab Provinces.

3. A "really beneficial" relationship can be established between Pakistan and Britain.

4. The Government of Pakistan would be "popular and representative."

5. Pakistan would seek membership in the United Nations.

The friendly and reciprocal relationship between the main factions in India should promote their mutual interests, Jinnah said. He added: "That is why I have been urging that we separate in a friendly way and remain friends thereafter."

MANCHESTER, England, May 21 (CP) (Reuters).—Hugh Dalton, Chancellor of the Exchequer, tonight described as "immortal" the words with which former Prime Minister Winston Churchill, now leader of the Conservative opposition, addressed his ministers on the formation of the coalition government in 1940.

Dalton said he would never forget Churchill's words:

"'We must fight on and if this long island story of ours is to end at last, then I say let it only end when each of us lies choking in his own blood upon the ground.'"

Dalton, receiving an honorary degree from Manchester University, declared: "That was the spirit in which he led us, in which all the country followed and in which that great victory in the end was won."

100 Polish Girls Flying To Canada as Workers

FRANKFURT, Germany, May 21 (Reuters).—Ludger Dionne, Liberal Member of the Canadian House of Commons for Beauce, has just completed arrangements for 100 Polish girls to migrate to Canada to work in his rayon spinning mills at St. George, Que.

Under the migration agreement, the 59-year-old Dionne will pay a portion of the girls' air passage to the Dominion. The inter-governmental committee for refugees will make up the difference.

The girls, who will enter Canada under permits issued by the Department of Immigration, have signed contracts committing them to work for a minimum of two years in the Dionne mills. After five years' Canadian residence they will be permitted to take out citizenship.

During their two-year tenure with the Dionne mills, the girls will live in a new six-story dormitory which adjoins a convent near the factory. Supervision of the 100 girls, all under 24 and Roman Catholic, will be in the charge of 40 nuns.

Dionne says that he intends to scatter the girls through his St. George mill, the largest rayon plant in Canada. They will work a six-day, 45-hour week and will be paid initially at the Canadian Government minimum level, with the difference between the Dionne average higher wage and the minimum payable to the individual girl worker after she has fulfilled the contractual two years.

A "winder" in the Dionne mill averages between $25 and $30 a week. The Canadian minimum for this job category, Dionne said, is about $15 weekly. Thus, under the two-year plan, the girl worker would get the aggregate of $10 to $15 weekly differences for the two-year period when she has completed her contract.

Dionne's chief concern at present is that the Polish girls, lacking the finery of their Canadian sisters, may feel self-conscious during their first weeks in St. George. The Canadian industrialist hopes to alleviate the situation, however, by making modern clothing available to the young women at cost or below cost prices.

Eastern Mining Firm Free To Store Up Fortune in Gold

OTTAWA, May 21 (CP).—The Government is planning no immediate action as a result of an announcement by the McIntyre Porcupine Mines Ltd., that it is storing gold bullion currently valued at $5,887,437.

The opinion was expressed that if the McIntyre company was prepared to hold its gold with the expectation of higher prices than the present $35 an ounce, there was nothing to prevent it doing so.

Rodney Adamson, Progressive Conservative Member of Parliament for York West, who has been conducting a campaign to have the Government make concessions to the gold mining industry, said he thought the McIntyre company was adopting a wise course, that the value of gold eventually must increase.

The practice could not become general, he said, because only three or four other gold mines were financially strong enough to continue meeting production costs without obtaining money from the sale of their products.

There is no law, he said, that compels a mine to sell its gold. If it does sell, it has to be to the mint. Should the Government decide to force the mine to turn over its gold then special legislation would be required.

Since last June when the Canadian dollar was brought to parity with the United States dollar—resulting in the price of gold dropping in terms of the Canadian dollar from $38.50 to $35—there have been protests that many mines working in marginal ores — orea where the cost of production almost equals the value of the gold recovered—would have to close.

A number of protests have been made in Parliament and several mining district delegations have urged that some relief be given. The Government extended some relief in corporation taxation, but this did not help the mines that made no profits at the $35 rate.

Mr. Adamson has been advocating that the mining companies be permitted to sell their gold on the open market where, he said, prices as high as $50 an ounce could be obtained.

U.S. Launches Study to Ease Depression

WASHINGTON, May 21 (CP). — Congress has launched a broad-scale national poll of economic conditions in an effort to diagnose the country's ills and soften the impact of an economic depression.

Experts here foresee a depression of some intensity as inevitable in the last months of 1947 and they plan to know in advance exactly what caused it and what may cure it.

The "joint committee on economic report," headed by Senator Robert Taft (Rep.-Ohio) and Representative Jesse P. Wolcott (Rep.-Mich.) has sent a questionnaire to all key industries, industrial organizations, state agencies and other sources of information.

It is designed to produce, within weeks, a complete survey of the country's employment, industrial and business position.

Wolcott feels that an economic depression is inevitable but he also believes it will bring a levelling off to a period of stability that may last a decade or more on a prosperity level. He thinks the depression will be of short duration.

It now is estimated that there are about 2,500,000 idle persons who normally would be gainfully employed. Also, there are about 1,250,000 war veterans in training who soon will be on the market for jobs.

A number of industries providing mass employment are approaching the saturation point of production on the basis of present price levels.

Robber Steals With Apology

VANCOUVER, May 21 (CP). — A thief, who apologized to his victim after robbing him of $250 and valuable papers in his hotel room here today, is the object of a search by city police.

E. B. Green awoke today to see the burglar going out the door with a pair of pants, containing the loot. "I'm sorry," the thief said as he left. The pants were found later in the hotel corridor.

POISONOUS TOY PAINT

Lead paint on toys, cribs and other furniture can result in varying degrees of lead poisoning when chewed and swallowed. Parents should guard infants by providing safe playthings, say health authorities.

NEWSPAPERS UP

BRUSSELS, May 21 (Reuters).—The Government has decided to allow the price of newspapers to be increased from one franc to 1.25 francs (about 5 cents), beginning July 1.

Did Machaeroides Eothen Vanish In Prehistoric Housing Shortage?

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP). — Nature is a determined critter. For instance, she tried twice to give the earth a sabre-tooth cat.

She had her first fling at it 40,000,000 years ago, give or take a few weeks, the Smithsonian Institution reported today.

This creature was known as Machaeroides Eothen to its friends and relatives, and was about the size of a house cat.

What happened? In no time at all, say 5,000,000 years or so, tabby became extinct.

Well, you know how it is with women. Nature didn't give up.

The next time it was the sabre-tooth tiger. He was no relation to Machaeroides Eothen, but he was built along the same general lines, only much bigger.

He lived in the ice age, and hence was a Johnny-Come-Lately, the way the Smithsonian scholars measure time.

But the tiger fizzled out, too.

Now, isn't that provoking? And how come these characters keep showing up and disappearing?

Dr. C. Lewis Gazin, who answers to the title of vertebrate paneontology curator, told a reporter that nobody knows for sure.

Climatic conditions change, animals are forced to migrate, and the first thing anybody knows, Nature's balance wheel is out of kilter.

The sabre-tooth tiger, for instance, with its protuding tusks, was mighty handy at carving up mastodons.

Gazin suspects that when the mastodons disappeared, there went the tiger's lunch box.

As for Machaeroides Eothen, whose fossil remains were dug up in the Bridger Basin of Wyoming, Gazin doesn't even have an extinct theory.

But he'd be glad to hear from anyone who knows whether there was a housing shortage then.

...Oddities...

CHELMSFORD, Essex, England, May 21 (Reuters).—The Bishop of Chelmsford, Dr. Henry Wilson, solved the "case of the squiggle" today—he found out where he is to speak June 22.

After spending days pondering an entry he made in his datebook after a telephone conversation—it was St. Marks? St. Michaels? St. Mildreds' St. Martins, or St. Marys?—He finally published an SOS in the Diocesan Chronicle, admitting "I cannot read my own writing."

Many persons telephoned "at all hours" until "we are sick of it," the bishop said in exasperation. Then the head mistress of St. Monica's school, Clacton, telephoned and said his engagement was at an "old girls service."

JACKSON, Miss., May 21 (AP).—A cafe operator complained to police today that a waitress off duty entered his restaurant, picked up a chocolate pie and slapped it into his face.

"This is what I've wanted to do for six months," she remarked.

Police went to the waitress' rooming house but the landlady reported she had gone to Texas."

CHICAGO, May 21 (AP).—Fluffy, a year old cat owned by the Philip Petersen family, knows only one trick—how to get into the Peterson home without disturbing any one.

Fluffy climbs up the brick wall near the front door, opens the mailbox lid with her nose, and plunks herself in—just like a parcel. Then she leaps out of the mail box and down to the floor.

Dane Would Tax Unmarried Adults

COPENHAGEN, May 21 (Reuters)—Bachelors and spinsters will pay for their freedom if a proposal by Thorkil Kristensen, Danish Finance Minister, is approved.

He asked Parliament to levy a 2.5 per cent income tax on unmarried workers, with an anticipated revenue to the state of $840,000.

Restaurants Ask Grading

VANCOUVER, May 21 (CP).—Compulsory grading of city restaurants with each eating house displaying "grade cards" as a customer guide to safe eating, was demanded today by the Vancouver Restaurant Association.

Replying to "loose criticism" and "extravagant statements about unsanitary conditions" in Vancouver cafes, Clarence Sorenson, president of the association branch, said the grading system would force the low-grade establishments to make improvements or suffer loss of trade.

Bitter denunciation of unsanitary conditions in some cafes here was voiced last night by the Vancouver, New Westminster and District Trades and Labor Council (T.L.C.) Members charged that rats scampered through employees' dressing rooms and waitresses "almost faint with the stench which comes from the refrigerators."

Says Ottawa Idle in Face Of Recession

OTTAWA, May 21 (CP).— M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said tonight the Government "faces the future calmly, expecting a recession with no more concern than what is going to happen to Federal revenues."

In an address prepared for delivery on a C.B.C. free-time political broadcast, Mr. Coldwell said the C.C.F. "deplores the lack of planning to meet a crisis which Finance Minister Abbott and the Government seem to regard as inevitable."

His party maintained that Mr. Abbott's recent budget should have made no reductions in the higher income brackets "as long as those in the lower brackets were not earning an income sufficient to provide themselves with the bare necessities of life."

It held that the excess profits tax should not have been abolished as long as old age pensioners "were eking out a miserable existence on a slow starvation dole of $25 a month."

"There should have been no concessions to the rich and powerful while the poor and weak were without security. These are the bare essentials which any government should meet as minimum requirements."

LONDON, May 21 (Reuters).—The Board of Trade, the Ministry of Works and the Tourist and Holiday Board are co-ordinating their efforts to speed the rehabilitation of Britain's hotels to accommodate tourists from abroad whose visits have been encouraged by the Government.

Earhart Landing Not Established

TOKIO, May 21 (CP).—High United States Army Intelligence sources said today they have not received any information to establish that Amelia Earhart had landed and was taken prisoner by the Japanese during a round-the-world flight in 1937.

Miss Earhart disappeared after radioing for help while over the Pacific Ocean. Her 79-year-old mother, Mrs. Amy Otis Earhart, said in a radio interview in New York yesterday she believed her daughter reached land and became a Japanese prisoner.

Tragic Ending To Honeymoon

SEVERN FALLS, Ont., May 21 (CP) —Inspector F. R. Wright of the Ontario Provincial Police tonight said an autopsy had disclosed drowning was the cause of death of Mrs. Christina Kettlewell, 22, of Mimico, Ont., whose body was found in the Severn River last night after a fire in the honeymoon cabin she had occupied with her husband of eight days.

The husband, Jack Kettlewell, 26, was in hospital after being found in the cabin suffering from a head wound. He was not recovered sufficiently to make a statement tonight.

Ronald Barrie, the groom's best man and business partner, was in Orillia tonight where he declined to comment on the accident. It was he who discovered Kettlewell in a dazed condition in the cottage when he returned from sunbathing.

Two Industrialists Approve B.C. Timber Expansion Plan

VANCOUVER, May 21 (CP).—Confidence in an expanding of the British Columbia forest products industry was voiced today by two top international industrialists here in connection with the Fifth National Foreign Trade Conference.

Frank L. Mitchell, of Montreal, general manager of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, said that the British Columbia pulp and paper industry, which plans a $26,000,000 expansion and development program in the next five years, will be one of the major factors in aiding Canada to maintain her position in the world pulp and paper market.

Mr. Mitchell, who made a tour of the British Columbia pulp and paper industry, warned that as a "consequence of the world need," other areas are starting to produce similar products.

"The day is coming when we must organize for world competition, labor and management together," Mr Mitchel said, "and we must be cognizant of the future position of Russia. She, too, has resources of wood, water and potential power and she is not failing to realize these potentialities."

Earlier, Sir Frederick Bain, deputy chairman of the Imperial Chemical Industries and president of the Federation of British Industries, London, forecast that Britain, still vitally short of lumber, will continue to purchase from British Columbia. He discounted reports that the United Kingdom was planning to buy lumber from Russia and Scandinavian countries and added that Canadian lumber is in demand great enough to continue for years.

"Why I can't even get a few timbers to repair a small part of my own house that was war-damaged."

Another Judge For B.C. Court

OTTAWA, May 21 (CP).—The Government gave notice today its plans to bring in a bill affecting the Benches of Quebec and British Columbia.

The bill would provide a salary for an additional judge of the Supreme Court of British Columbia.

There now are two chief justices for the Quebec Superior Court. The measure would make one the chief justice, the other an associate chief justice.

Front, Rear Plates in '48

British Columbia motorists will have both front and rear licence plates next year, Motor Vehicle Department officials announced tonight. The colors will be a green background with white numbers, just the reverse of the 1947 color scheme.

COUNCIL CANDIDATE

First candidate to announce his intentions of running for a seat on the Esquimalt Municipal Council is Capt. Alex Speirs, 471 Nelson Street, who has been a resident of the municipality since 1920.

Capt. Speirs retired from the Permanent Army a year ago. He will contest the seat left vacant by Councillor J. P. A. Christensen, who will resign June 9 to run for reeve.

Serving 28 years in the armed forces, Capt. Speirs was long associated in sports while at Work Point Barracks, and is particularly interested in the young people in the community.

SELECT CADETS

Provincial committee of the Air Cadet League of Canada is now in the process of selecting four cadets to attend a two-week training course at an R.A.F. training station in Britain this July.

Every province in Canada will be represented by 46 Canadian Air Cadets who will be flown to the Old Country, according to P. C. Routley, chairman of the Greater Victoria Air Cadet Council.

The plane which will carry the Canadian boys to Britain will return with a similar number of English air cadets, who will train on a Canadian air station. Cadets are between the ages of 16 and 20, and have been nominated from the various squadrons in British Columbia.

Council Sets Figure For Drainage

Esquimalt residents in the benefiting area covered by the Kinver drainage by-law will be assessed 6 cents a frontage foot to pay for the $16,000 project over a 15-year term. The figure was set last night at a special meeting of the council.

First and second readings of the by-law were given last night with third reading expected at next Monday's regular meeting. The plan then will be voted on by those resident.

The 6 cents a foot rate will pay only two-thirds of the cost, with the municipality making up the balance of $400 a year.

Before the transportation franchise by-law was given first and second readings, considerable discussion took place with Councillor Guillemaud leading the way.

He drew attention to the increased cost of children's tickets proposed by the new agreement.

Acting Reeve Wurtele promised to take up the matter with the transportation committee before next Monday.

Councillor Guillemaud also wanted assurance from Municipal Solicitor G. H. Sedger that the municipality would not have to purchase special equipment to remove snow and ice from bus routes. The solicitor explained that the agreement called for removal of snow and ice only up to a reasonable amount. He thought that the use of sand on icy streets would cover the responsibility of the municipality.

Acting Reeve Wurtele said he was in favor of having an air-tight agreement. "The agreement must be as pleasing to the public as possible. All needed routes should be included so that the businessmen of Esquimalt will not suffer. If the service isolates any one district, or the bus connections are bad, residents will go right through to Victoria to do their shopping."

First and second readings also were given to the revised Wartime Housing by-law, under which houses built in wartime for war purposes may be sold.

IN MIDST OF HUNGER

MANILA, May 21 (AP).—Philippine flour importers reported a 50,000-ton surplus today in the midst of hunger in the Orient. Importers asked the Government to lift its ban on the re-export of flour, saying 2,000,000 sacks had piled up in Manila. The Manila Bulletin said flour was rotting on the docks.

Holiday Week-End Meat Supply Outlook Expected to Be as Bleak as Usual

THE fact that this week-end marks the May 24 holiday will have little bearing on the supply of meat in Victoria, according to retailers and wholesalers. "Meat will be just as short this week-end as it has been in past months," said an official of a large meat packing firm.

Brightest note on the shopping front will be plentiful supplies of butter.

Majority of meat dealers expect the meat situation to continue until August when "grass-fed cattle" hit the market.

"Packers just aren't buying at the increased prices," an official said yesterday. He maintained price ceilings were improperly administered.

Find Death of Car Passenger Due Driver's Culpable Neglect

Death of John E. Gaffney, 805 Cormorant Street, following an automobile accident with a train at the Lampson Street crossing of the E. & N. Railway, was due to culpable neglect on the part of the driver, Robert J. Luney, a coroner's jury inquiring into the accident found yesterday morning.

Following an inquest at McCall's Funeral Parlors the jury found that Gaffney died of injuries sustained when the car struck the train shortly before 6 p.m. May 10, and that Luney by culpable neglect in driving at an excessive speed and in failing to observe road signs "did kill and slay John Gaffney."

Witnesses said the car was traveling from 45 to 80 miles an hour before the crash.

Luney and a passenger, Alastair McLeod, are still in hospital recovering from serious injuries received in the accident.

Albin Falk, 808 Lampson Street, testified the car which later crashed into the train had passed him at a speed between 60 and 80 miles per hour.

STATES WHISTLE BLOWN TWICE

Ernest R. Willey, fireman on the train, stated the engine whistle had been blown twice before entering the crossing and that the bell was ringing. His evidence was confirmed by George H. Crocker, engineer, who stated the accident might have been more severe if the engine had been overturned. Scalding steam might have been poured over the occupants of the car and the engine, he stated.

He suggested there should be a stop sign at the crossing or a sign limiting the speed of cars to ten miles an hour.

Frank Hillier, conductor of the freight train, said it was traveling at about eight miles an hour on entering the crossing.

Reginald Jury and John H. Armitage, first persons at the scene, both said, in answer to questions, that they had smelled no liquor on any of the occupants of the car.

Esquimalt Police Chief Gilbert Stancomb said the car had traveled approximately 33 feet after the impact and the train had gone on for 113 feet. He also stated he had smelled no liquor at the scene. Other evidence was given by Colin D. MacIntosh, E. & N. assistant superintendent, who said he considered the safety measures at the crossing adequate.

In his address to the jury, Dr. E. C. Hart, coroner, said the evidence was that the car was traveling at an illegal and dangerous speed. From the evidence that the 75 to 90-ton engine had been driven from the track by the impact, he said, the car must have been doing "considerably more" than 45 to 50 miles an hour.

The jury composed John Halstead, foreman; James Thirlwall, Gerald Stelck, Walter Dabinett, George Toms and Stephen Birus.

Sunday Ball in Public Parks Allowed by Oak Bay Council

Whether or not the Oak Bay Council can prohibit the playing of softball in public parks on Sundays was the subject of considerable discussion at the council meeting last night.

Councillor P. A. Moir contended it was "far better" to have children playing in the parks on Sundays than not to know where they were. He agreed that the matter of noise must be considered, but moved that use of Windsor Park for softball on Sundays be allowed on a temporary basis to ascertain the reaction of the residents of the district.

Councillor R. A. B. Wootton then raised the question of whether or not the municipality could prevent use of the park by the public at any time, provided there was no contravention of the Lord's Day Act.

On the assurance of the municipal engineer, A. S. G. Musgrave, that it was the practice to issue permits for picnics and to regulate the playing of softball and other games throughout the season, the council granted permission for Sunday games subject to protest from adjoining residents.

Mr. Musgrave pointed out that the question of Sunday games had not arisen for some time in Oak Bay and stated that the picnic permits were more to avoid a clash in dates rather than to control the outings.

Diggon Says Publicly-Owned System Poor Bargain for City Bus Riders

"If all the details of a publicly-owned transportation system were supplied to your organization I am convinced it would be realized such a system represents a poor bargain for those Victorias who ride buses," Ald. Harold M. Diggon, chairman of the Greater Victoria transportation committee, told a meeting last night of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council.

Ald. Diggon further stated that a transportation system under public ownership was a "poor risk" for riders and the taxpayers who would carry any losses.

The transportation chairman maintained the defeat of the transportation vote last December was only partially due to sentiment for public ownership. Ald. Diggon reviewed developments on the transportation issue since it was last voted on.

He explained that extra money required for a publicly-owned transportation system would have to be acquired from increased fares. The existing company, he explained, is able to operate on lower fares as it can spread the overhead cost because transportation is only one part of its organization.

"Fares under a publicly owned system would not be as reasonable as those voted down last December," he said.

Explaining the difficulties of setting up a publicly-owned system, Ald. Diggon pointed out that Saanich would have to be excluded from such a setup because they have a franchise with the Vancouver Island Coach Lines until 1948. He pointed out that drawing up such a plan acceptable to all municipalities would be extremely difficult.

"Even if all municipalities did agree to a publicly-owned system, there would be little possibility of having the system in operation before 1950," stated Ald. Diggon.

Ald. Diggon emphasized that the fare structure set forth in the new franchise to be voted on June 19 was lower than any other city of comparative size in Canada.

Upholding the use of buses, the transportation committee chairman noted the most desirable feature of this mode of travel was that it could be re-routed with ease.

"Victorians are still street car conscious," he said, stating that people did not seem to realize that routes could be changed in order to serve the greatest number of persons.

Professor E. S. Farr, transportation committee consultant, in answer to a statement that Victorians would be heavily taxed for road repairs because of heavy buses, corrected what he termed a wrong impression that all street car tracks were to be torn up. Prof. Farr explained that some sections of tracks would be merely covered where it was found more suitable.

Pointing out that the B.C. Electric Railway Co. Ltd. lost money on transportation, George Wilkinson, secretary of the Trades and Labor Council, said: "The man paying an electric light or gas bill is subsidizing the person riding on a $1 pass."

Concluding, Prof. Farr told the meeting to remember that "the public holds the stick." He said the company would be governed on a great many issues by an intermunicipal transportation board which would have the "widest possible powers."

Greater Victoria Carries Heavy Load Of $35,800,497 in Exempt Property

Victoria, capital city of British Columbia, and Esquimalt, the Royal Canadian Navy's Pacific Coast base, bear the major portion of the staggering total of property in Greater Victoria which is exempt from taxation.

This year, the total for the four municipalities is $35,800,497.

Esquimalt, where the Crown consistently added more and more property to its holdings for defence purposes during the war, can collect taxes on only $3,154,000 of its total of $15,262,687 in property on the municipal assessment roll.

In Victoria, nerly 28 per cent of all property is exempt from taxation this year. Assessed value of the exempt land and improvements amounts to $19,996,600 of a total assessment of $71,525,536.

Saanich, surprisingly, has more than $3,250,000 in property exempt from taxation.

Total value of land and improvements exempt from taxation in Oak Bay is the lowest of any of the four Greater Victoria municipalities.

In taking over additional land and buildings, the Dominion Government removed from the municipal tax rolls a large slice of formerly revenue-producing property, according to E. Fulcher, municipal assessor.

Wartime Housing, Ltd., a Crown company, occupies land assessed at $102,905, which, while not entirely tax-free, is not subject to the normal mill rate laid down by the municipal council each year.

Provincial Government holdings in Esquimalt consist of a parcel of land and a small building worth a total of $1,400. Municipal property, parks and schools total in value $221,905.

Exempted property in Esquimalt includes:

Of the $3,253,420 in tax free property, land and buildings worth $1,538,880 are owned by the Dominion Government. These properties include the new Richmond Road Veterans' Hospital, the former Gordon Head army camp, the Astrophysical Observatory on Little Saanich Mountain and several wireless stations.

The provincial government, whose holdings in Saanich include the Wilkinson Road Mental Home and the Normal School, has tax-free property in Saanich assessed at $620,385. EXEMPTIONS LOW FOR OAK BAY

Oak Bay's total taxable property is estimated on the tax rolls to be worth $14,062,530, while a further $441,790 in both land and improvements is exempt from taxation.

Taxable property includes $3,209,340 in land and $10,853,190 in improvements.

By far the largest amount of tax free property is that owned by the municipality itself. Municipal buildings, schools and school sites and reverted lands make up in value a total of $383,990.

Church property, totaling $30,000, is the next highest on the list of properties which pay no municipal taxes. Victoria's Old Men's Home is also exempt and is assessed at $23,110 for both land and buildings.

Supreme Court Judges

For a considerable time now British Columbia has been entitled to the services of additional members on the bench of its Supreme Court. The volume of work thrown upon resident and circuit judges through increased settlement and industrialization has not been sufficiently recognized. The same handful of Supreme Court justices have been trying to cover an ever-increasing field, under conditions that make for too much human strain.

Only a small part of a Supreme Court judge's time is taken up by actual appearances in court or in chambers. A great deal of study, reflection and research goes on in his private office, work that cannot be neglected if his judgments are to be correct in the eyes of the law. Each judgment in a civil action is reviewable before other courts. Judgment in criminal cases are not less exacting, when human fortunes are immediately concerned. When too few judges are employed, not only do they suffer directly, but there is delay in the whole process of justice.

It is hardly fair to ask the same six judges to carry on in the same fashion as they have been doing these last twenty years or so. British Columbia has grown, and its court work has increased enormously. The implied addition of one more Supreme Court judge will be welcome among those who understand and appreciate what is really involved. We should like to have seen more ample provision to meet the problem, but that comes in time.

Another factor which applies particularly to British Columbia is the tremendous distances which judges must travel to get around their circuits. Often days are lost in traveling, and that cuts directly into the time left for all of the weighty and onerous details of their duties. Some help in a really difficult situation is long overdue.

Robot Flights

Interesting experiments designed to pave the way for safe flying at speeds greater than the speed of sound, which is 760 miles per hour at sea level, are being carried out by the United Kingdom Ministry of Civil Aviation off the coast of Cornwall. They will be continued during the next six months. During daylight hours the aircraft will be diving towards the ocean from a height of about 40,000 feet above sea level, their speed ranging up to 1,000 miles per hour. Robots will be used because lack of information about the effect of such high speeds on human beings prevents undue risks being taken with the lives of airmen.

A British report says the rocket-propelled aircraft, which are twelve feet long with a wing span of eight feet, will be borne aloft by Mosquito planes to a height of about 40,000 feet and then released. An automatic pilot on the rocket craft will take over, and the latter will fly at high speed until its fuel is exhausted, probably a matter of some 70 seconds. During this time it will have covered 12 miles. Then the automatic pilot will cause it to drive into the sea.

A ground station in the Scilly Isles will record the robot's behaviour in flight automatically, while a telemeter inside the craft will record the instrument readings and send them to the ground station. The robot will be tracked by radar and photographed from a Gloster Meteor jet-propelled fighter, like that which holds the international speed record.

These experiments would seem to be a fine example of the ingenuity of technicians to overcome mechanical difficulties. A great deal of information leading to safer flying is hoped to be forthcoming during the brief 70-second flight of the robot. Would that human difficulties could be overcome so easily, or so quickly. Man, however, as is evidenced daily, is not a robot and does not respond like one.

Transit Agreement

One point in the proposed transit agreement between Victoria and the British Columbia Electric Railway Company, Ltd., could stand a little more elucidation than it has been given. That is the terms of the agreement in respect of ordinary municipal taxation. It seems that several provincial statutes may be involved, and that the Greater Victoria representatives have not yet found the last word on how this body of law will affect the agreement, when in operation. The Provincial Government should be asked formally for their view.

Section 25 of the transit agreement as now proposed, states this:

(A) "As compensation for the use by the Company of the streets in the City for its vehicles operated under this agreement and to assist the City in the performance of its obligations under paragraphs 10, 11, 12 and 13 hereof and on account of certain taxes payable by the Company to the City, the Company shall pay to the City an amount equal to three percentum (3%) of the gross fare revenue earned by it within the City by the operation of its said vehicles (including charter motor buses as defined in paragraph 5 hereof) under this agreement. Before applying any monies so paid to any other purpose the City shall apply the same on account of the amounts from time to time owing or to become owing by the Company to it in respect of:

(1) "Any tax now or hereafter imposed on the amount of fares received upon vehicles and payable during, or calculated upon fares received during, the period that the franchise hereby granted shall be in force; and

(2) "All trade and other licence fees, all business taxes and all ordinary municipal and school taxes (excepting only taxes on land, apart from the improvements thereon, and local improvement rates and special rates of whatever nature or kind) now or hereafter imposed in respect of the real property used in connection therewith and payable during, or calculated upon revenue derived, during, the period that the franchise hereby granted shall be in force."

It would assist the ratepayers materially if this phase of the agreement were explained a little more fully. What, precisely, is intended in respect to taxation on land, on buildings, and on future works or construction, apart from the ordinary running operations on the roads? If the three per cent gross revenue item is intended to cover municipal taxation that should on improvements be known and understood from the start. At present, there has been some attempt to clarify the situation, but no clear, final concept has yet reached the public's mind. It seems like a case for an official interpretation all round.

Not New Recipe

Mr. Henry Wallace's recipe for the abolition of wars presents nothing that has not already been said or is being currently attempted through the only agency that promises any success, the United Nations. It may make the headlines, as the former American Vice-President has been doing frequently of late, to set out an imposing list of requirements for peace, but his plan offers nothing new. It contains precisely what the Western powers have been aiming at in successive conferences on the subject. All right thinking people have been directing their thoughts along similar lines.

Mr. Wallace would have enforceable world control of atomic energy, disarmament in weapons for man's destruction and the development of a world security system, among other points cited by him. He seems to be overlooking that an atomic energy committee has been set up by the United Nations. If it has not got very far yet, the fault lies mainly on an unwillingness on the part of Russia to agree to the only form of control which would make possible the condition Mr. Wallace now advocates as though he had discovered a new plan. That control depends on the kind of world inspection that may be adopted, and to date no general agreement has been possible on this point.

Disarmament and the development of a world security system would not be too difficult if this basic problem of atomic energy control could be settled. Mr. Wallace might help the cause of world amity to a greater extent than he is doing were he to throw his weight behind the United Nations as the one body in which rests the best future hopes for lasting peace. The principles enunciated by him are all contained in the structure of this world organization, and need only to be followed in the spirit as well as the letter for a lasting step forward to be made by all mankind. If the United Nations body should prove unable to reconcile national rivalries to the point where they will end, there will be small chance for any other agency or plan to succeed.

Seen in Passing

Truth, said Carlyle, is the beginning and the life of all things. That which has not truth at its base is off to a false start, and no amount of patching can change it. Truth is the easiest to tell, the longest to survive, and no one need ever apologize for it. Truth speaks for itself, in terms that are most readily understood.

It would be a timely gesture if members of Victoria organizations would visit the hospitals over the May 24 celebration period to see if there are not some walking patients they could take out to see some, at least, of the festivities. It is not easy to be shut in when the rest of the community is making carnival. The Veterans' Hospital, in particular, should not be neglected.

The Reply

Glory of thought and glory of deed,
Glory of Hampden and Runnymede:
Glory of ships that sought far goals,
Glory of swords and glory of souls:
Glory of songs mounting as birds,
Glory immortal of magical words:
Glory of Milton, glory of Scott,
Glory of Shelley, glory of Sydney,
Glory transcendant that perishes not—
Hers be the story, hers be the glory,
England!

Shatter her beauteous breast ye may:
The spirit of England none can slay:
Dash the bomb on the dome of St. Paul's—
Deem ye the fame of the Admiral falls?
Pry the stone from the chancel floor,—
Deem ye that Shakespeare shall live no more?
Where is the giant shot that kills
Wordsworth walking the old green hills?
Trample the red rose on the ground,
Keats is beauty while earth rolls round.
Bind her, grind her, burn her with fire,
Cast her ashes into the sea:
She shall escape, she shall aspire,
She shall arise to make men free;
She shall arise in a sacred scorn,
Lighting the lives that are yet unborn:
Spirit supernal, splendor eternal,
England!

War Potential

Frank M. Kelley

Covering the arrival at this port of ships, passenger and freight, from overseas as well as coastwise, for the greater part of the decade preceding the outbreak of World War II, this reporter had the opportunity of interviewing an interesting cross-section of traveling folk, from leading figures in world affairs, through others who had accomplished things in their life pursuits, to some who had the leisure for travel as well as the wherewithal to make it a pleasure.

To me, because they had tight-lipped reputations, which they pretty consistently maintained as a general rule, talking to anyone some kindly purser or other ship official indicated was a naval or military officer who might have a story, if it could be tapped, was a preferred chore. There were quite a number of military and naval men on the move in mid-thirties particularly; while at the same time not-so-tight-lipped travelers were even then freely expressing opinions to the effect that all was not so well with the world and certain dire things were liable to happen—any time.

This was particularly true of passengers arriving on trans-Pacific ships from the Orient and Australia. Australians sensed a menace to their heritage in the activities of Japanese along their coast, whom they associated with spying out the country in preparation for wholesale emigration, while "old China hands" professed to see in promoted "incidents" by the same aggressive Nipponese the annexation of large slices of Northern China and Manchuria.

FAMILIAR WITH HISTORY

Putting two and two together, one could hardly arrive at any other conclusion than that the out-of-the-ordinary movement of military and naval men, under "wraps" as it were, had something to do with possibilities developing along the Pacific littoral; but while those particular travelers would never divulge, and rightly so, what they were about, one did gather, from what they did and did not say, they were quite familiar with the causes then threatening to do just what eventually happened.

This reporter was told, something which was generally understood anyway, that the islands of Japan were far overpopulated, and with the annual increase of births there just had to be an exodus, and some place had to be found for the surplus mortals. Northern China and Manchuria offered the most convenient outlet for the time being; but for long-range planning it was only natural that the wide and sparsely-settled acres of Australia should be considered and coveted. Barring large areas in Siberia, which were not 100 per cent inviting, Australia had the greatest possibilities for taking care of great numbers and the ultimate establishment of a centre from which the Japanese might carry out the plan for world dominion which Japanese Premier Tanaka presented to a Japanese emperor at one time.

Familiar as they seemed to be with the causes of major wars during world history, one gathered those officers were somewhat sympathetic towards a situation which had no other solution than the forcible acquirement of another country's territory to place its own nationals in. Maybe there will always be wars, they would admit, but they did consider the building of walls in the shape of regulations prohibiting the migrations of people too prolific for resources and bounds of their own lands would always be the big peril.

To this connection they mentioned the situation of Germany. They could not appreciate, apparently, why even a recent enemy, with bread-producing lands of considerable extent nearby, were not allowed to migrate. To some of them at least, and they said it without reservations, the greatest mistake after Great War Armistice was taking away the colonies from Germany. Those who spoke so felt the German people, growing in population, could not be hemmed in indefinitely.

SUPPORT ONLY SO MANY

Land and industry would support only so many, and those traveling officers voiced the hope that Germany's colonies would be returned to her, a course which might even then have had some effect in counteracting the unrest which was then being stimulated by the Nazi party, said unrest being the sole result of conditions deriving from hastily concluded and too-drastic-to-survive stipulations.

All of which should give Canadians some concern at the moment. Continually told these days of what conditions of life in Europe are like, can we hope to, even for the sake of what some of us are continually referring to as "our standard of living," keep our vast acreage of lands locked up for ever? It does not seem sense to keep out people who might be selected and who could make the vacant lands blossom like the rose and help create industries, when there exists a very real possibility that in time we may be compelled by a United Nations' decision to absorb any number of misplaced persons, whether we like the looks of them or not. Or would Canadians prefer another war?

Wilfred Souther, president; Mrs. Bernice Buxton, secretary; Edward Price, treasurer; Leslie Fiddick, and O. Williamson, executive, and Edward Gibney, bandmaster. Membership in the band is open to children between six and 18 years of age.

A STARTLING THOUGHT

Human Race More Important Than Systems

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

Pravda, in an article by Yuri Zhukov, has attacked American efforts to reform the United Nations. It charges the reformers with wishing to "sabotage" the international organization because it "opposes aggression," and with serving "aggressive, monopolist, imperialist interests." The article names this columist as chief culprit.

I should like to reply to Mr. Zhukov.

* * *

Since the Dumbarton Oaks plan was launched, I have warned that the United Nations—as constituted at present—lacks the fundamentals of an organization to prevent war between the great powers, and I have associated myself with others of similar mind.

The view that we have advanced is that as long as sovereign states possess war-making powers, armament races are inevitable, fear makes real co-operation impossible, and accumulating fears will eventually result in war. We wish to see the abolition of one single sovereign right, the right to wage international war, and consequently, and logically, the right of any nation to maintain an army, navy, or air force, or manufacture any weapons beyond those used in the normal internal policing of states.

We wish to see this prohibition written into the constitutions of all nations and made the first law of the United Nations. We wish to see aggressors defined, in conformity with the Nuernberg trials, as those who order or participate in breaches of this law—with courts to try, judge and penalize them.

We wish an international inspection force created with prosecutory powers, and one single legal army created, to act as a policing agent against aggressor states only in the unlikely emergency that a state is able to circumvent inspection and launch an attack.

Beyond this, we would respect the right of every state to have any social system it desires.

I have said this over and over, in the press and on the platform. And I would now like to ask you, Mr. Zhukov, whether, as a private individual—which is all I am—you will support it?

* * *

Millions of Americans and Russians died to end war. Their governments told them they were dying to liberate the world from perpetual fear and the cyclical reality of ever-mounting horror.

Today, two years after total victory put mankind's future effectively into the hands of the United States and the U.S.S.R., 19,000,000 men are under arms. Armament bills cost the people of the world $27,000,000,000 per year, or $10,000,000,000 more than in 1938 when the hosts of the last war were assembling. The world starves while its productive forces are being expended on armaments, and mounting fears lead each power to try to outdo the other in destructive ingenuity.

Whereas what is urgently needed is a systematic plan for world reconstruction, our own military expenditures take 34 per cent of revenue, and every loan must be calculated according to whether it may aid a potential enemy.

The murderous powers of modern weapons increase daily. A few days ago we were informed that the atomic bomb may be obsolete, substituted by atomic "clouds" which, drifting over populations, would assure lingering and horrible death for all exposed. Your Government—we know—has many centres of atomic research, and is working on guided missiles with the aid of German scientists—as are we. We arm potential "Allies," and so do you.

* * *

We would like to break this vicious circle of death, decisively, in behalf of the future of the race to which you and I both belong: The human race. This seems to us more important than any social or economic system.

And we simply ask: Will you help? I await your reply with the utmost seriousness and interest.

Clothing, Food Sent to Britain

Mrs. F. E. Dowdall stated that 96 garments valued at $140.00 had been shipped to Britain this month and that all chapters had adopted families to whom they would send food parcels each month, in presenting her report at the meeting of Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., held at headquarters on Monday evening. Mrs. C. Bishop, first vice-regent was in the chair.

Mrs. Dowdall also reported that a new chapter was being formed with the members being war brides. Mrs. W. C. Nichol will present the standard to the new chapter.

Final plans were made for the Empire Day ceremony on May 23, at 11 a.m., to Parliament Square. Mrs. W. C. Nichol, vice-regent, will represent Mrs. W. N. Martin, regent of Provincial Chapter. Members were also reminded of the Intercession service to be held in Metropolitan United Church, on May 25.

On June 8 a service will be held at the Cross of Sacrifice at Ross Bay Cemetery, at 3:45 p.m. The Alexandra Rose tag day in aid of the Crippled Children's Fund will be held June 7. Mrs. W. N. Martin, provincial regent, will give a report on the national convention on June 26.

Boyd A. Robinson, 271 Superior Street, has written to the City Council stating his intention of bidding for the concession of the Memorial Arena.

New Films Available At Library

Two new films are now available at the Victoria Public Library, "Operations Pluto and Fido" and "Steam Locomotive."

The first shows the difficult engineering feat of laying a flexible pipeline under the English Channel from the coast of England to the coast of France, after "D" Day, to guarantee the uninterrupted delivery of bulk petroleum to the Allied Armies regardless of weather conditions and enemy attack. Included in this film is the system worked out to solve the problem of fog over British airfields.

The second film is one of a series designed to show activities of modern railroading. Impressive scenes showing magnificent trains in action precede the scenes that depict service and repair in the roundhouse. Exceptional shots taken in the cab of the locomotive and from moving trains adjacent to the engine conclude this film.

The purchasing committee of the Greater Victoria Film Council held a special preview of films this week in the National Film Board screening room during which the following films were screened: "Birds of Canada No. 2," "Sands of Central Asia," "Ukrainian Winter Holiday," "Flight of the Dragon (revised)" and "Boy in Court."

Island Roads Clear—Secretary Charles L. Harris, of the Island Automobile Association, returned last night from a tour of the Island Highway as far north as Port Alberni, and pronounced the roads to be in good condition all the way, except for the fourth bridge on the Malahat, where the approaches require additional support. He has reported the matter to the Public Works Department.

Making a "preference" bid is not simply a matter of counting the cards in the two suits shown by partner and choosing the longer support. Consider today's deal.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 ♦	1 ♠	2 ♣	Pass
3 ♣	3 ♠	4 ♣	Pass
5 ♣	5 ♥	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the club king and before the play had progressed very far, declarer found that he was not only in a very high contract, but a contract that was virtually unmanageable. Ruffed down from the start by club leads, declarer never could cash in his spade tricks, and the result was a 900-point penalty—not a very good "sacrifice."

It was South's fault, of course, that the bidding reached such a high level, but it was North's fault that the penalty was so big. South had not bid his two suits in such a way as to indicate equal lengths; he had rebid spades before even mentioning hearts. Thus, North should have been absolutely sure that South had greater length, and probably greater strength in spades than in hearts, and, moreover, North should have foreseen, because of his own four clubs, that South would immediately be "pumped" in that suit.

Superficially the A-5-2 of hearts was better support than the J-9 of spades, but this was only an elementary analysis. Since South was marked with at least six spades, he would be better able to stave off the club attack with spades as trump than with his shorter heart suit. Obviously South would not have been notably successful at a five-spade contract, but he could have saved at least two tricks, and 400 points. If North had given the matter due consideration, he might have envisaged just that difference and taken the contract back to spades.

"Your chief complaint about the younger generation is that you no longer belong to it," the boss told Bill, the Broad Street barber . . . "How do you manage to look so young?" a city dweller asked the Keating Squire. "Growing old is a bad habit which a busy man has no time to form," the squire chuckled . . . According to a Fort Street business man, we will know the war is actually over when restaurants serve three pats of butter and six lumps of sugar per customer . . . Tobacconist Martin was heard to remark: "According to present prices, you no longer have to meet expenses. They come right up and overtake you" . . . Crossing a street in the business district on foot while sober is becoming almost as dangerous as driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor . . . From Mrs. Bessie L. Spence: "There is plenty of time in eternity," said the philosopher to the pedestrian who narrowly escaped being struck by an automobile when he crossed the street in the middle of a block in order to save a few seconds of time. "It is just a question of where you want to spend it. Personally I prefer to spend a few more years on the earth, but you may be different. You may prefer some other place, and if so, you certainly know the right way to go about getting there" . . . The motorist had just crashed into a telephone pole. Wire, pole and everything else came down around his ears. Police found him unconscious amid the wreckage, and as they untangled him he reached out feebly, fingered the wires and murmured: "Thank goodness I lived a clean life. They have given me a harp" . . . As children grow older, they stop asking questions and start questioning the answers.

VISITING WARSHIP

Sir,—One notes a press dispatch to effect that the U.S.S. Iowa, one of America's finest and most modern battleships, is to visit in these waters later this season, but it has been announced that she will not visit Victoria, only Vancouver. It seems strange that this naval visitor from our good neighbors should by-pass the capital city of the province, thus depriving the Island folks of any opportunity to see and possibly inspect this fine ship. It is possibly not too late to take steps to have the program of her scheduled visits amended to include Victoria, inasmuch as she practically passes our waterway doorstep.

One sincerely hopes that some official action will be taken to ensure the U.S.S. Iowa ringing "stop" to her engines when she comes hereabouts.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

Britain Forced by Fuel Crisis To Abandon 1947 Export Goal

LONDON, May 21 (CP).—Because of the Winter fuel crisis, the government has given up hope of reaching its 1947 export target: 140 per cent of 1938 volume by December.

Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, says the best Britain can expect is to "get near the target."

Regardless what the year-end monthly rate of exports is, total 1947 shipments abroad will be far below the planned figure.

"Britain has lost £200,000,000 worth of exports as a result of the fuel crisis," Sir Stafford told a Bristol meeting. "That means that we have lost the capacity to import £200,000,000 worth of urgently needed food, raw materials and machinery."

Treasury experts now are going through the import list to see where savings can be made. Machinery to increase the productivity of British factories has an over-all priority but food and material imports likely will be cut.

Downing Street spokesmen report that "internally, things look a bit better," primarily because coal output has been higher than expected. Industry generally is receiving the same amount of coal as last Summer. It is estimated this means that manufacturing will be about 9/10ths of present factory capacity.

But despite this apparent rapid recovery, business experts predict that the fuel crisis still will be reflected in Britain's export figures next Spring, particularly in the heavy engineering and shipbuilding industries.

Many exhibitors at the British Industries Fair here and in Birmingham were forced to refuse many orders from overseas buyers because of shortages of fuel, raw materials, bottles and containers.

Figures on the fuel-crisis production drop in individual industries are given in the government's monthly digest of statistics. These are samples:

Cotton yarn production fell to a weekly average in February of 6,330,000 pounds compared with 12,710,000 in January.

Passenger car production dropped from 25,005 in January to 9,921 in February. It recovered to 22,074 in March, but now is threatened again by a sheet-steel shortage.

Building bricks made in January were 379,000,000; the February figure was 247,000,000. Cement output dropped from 580,000 tons to 192,000.

Edible Oils Needs Filled

OTTAWA, May 21 (CP).—Canada will meet her 1947 requirements in edible oils through a bit of horse-trading with Argentina involving an insignificant amount of Canadian newsprint, it was disclosed today in the Commons by Finance Minister Abbott.

In return for about 18,000 metric tons of oil, which the Dominion sorely needs, Argentina will receive a similar additional tonnage of newsprint, amounting to less than half of one per cent of the estimated total Canadian production of 4,350,000 tons for 1947.

The minister indicated Canada's problem in obtaining edible oil supplies was similar to that of the Canadian housewife trying to buy the shortening into which the supplies mainly are diverted. Many of the normal sources of supply had dried up and the Dominion finally found the oil in the Argentine.

The 18,000 tons of newsprint to Argentina would be in addition to commercial shipments which last year totaled 46,330 tons, valued at $4,058,705. Mr. Abbott did not indicate the exact amount of the total 1947 shipments of newsprint, but said it would be "slightly below" the 1940-45 average of 58,900 tons.

In 1946, Canada imported from Argentina 11,147 tons of oil, including 3,212 tons of cotton seed oil valued at $962,809, 516 tons of peanut oil valued at $256,651 and 7,419 tons of sunflower seed oil valued at $4,141,416.

Women Battle Insect Army

ORDNANCE, Ore., May 21 (AP).—Housewives, armed with brooms and mops, sought vainly today to halt the march of a 10-mile-wide army of Mormon crickets, eating its way through the town's gardens.

Millions of the destructive insects, which cross a green field and leave only bare ground in their wake, were pressing toward the valuable crops of Western Umatilla County.

While this town's women summoned husbands home from work to battle the insects, county agents sent out a call for men and equipment to spread poison bait.

"The crickets are definitely out of hand," said Leroy E. Fuller, assistant county agent. He described a two-mile stretch of highway as black with the insects.

Find Luxury Plane Wrecked

MANILA, May 22 (Thursday) (AP).—President Manuel A. Roxas' personal luxury plane was found wrecked today on a Mindanao mountainside and the 12 or more high Filipino Government officials and crew of eight aboard were feared dead. Roxas was not aboard.

Air searchers, spurred by Roxas himself in one of the biggest air hunts in the islands' history, found the unburned wreckage four days after the plane vanished.

Admits Guilt In Drug Case

VANCOUVER, May 21 (CP).—Howe Yee, 29-year-old Chinese seaman, pleaded guilty in Assize Court today to a charge of illegally importing narcotics, reportedly valued at more than $30,000, from the Ss. Suva while it was in port here last month. He was remanded until the end of the assizes for sentence.

Medical Authority Upholds Sufferer's "Right to Die"

LONDON, May 21 (AP).—Dr. E. A. Barton, pleading for an incurable sufferer's "right to die," said in an address today that he had taken the life of such a patient.

The physician, who retired after 40 years as a general practitioner in London, told the Voluntary Euthanasia Legalization Society:

"We know such things are done, but they are not done legally. We are extremely cautious in shouldering the responsibility in taking a patient's life. I am not ashamed to say that I have done so. And I know medical friends of mine of the most transparent honesty who have confessed to me that they have to give way to a patient crying for mercy."

A. Percy Groves, chairman of the society, said a "right-to-die" bill for persons suffering great pain in incurable illnesses would be introduced in Parliament at the earliest opportunity.

Dr. Barton said in an interview later that he had written an autobiography in which he "described some of the appallingly horrible cases I have met where the disease and the patient's life dragged along in conditions of dreadful pain and misery."

"Every doctor has similar experiences," he said. "Several of my patients, highly educated people—I numbered half the Royal Academy at one time among my patients—have begged me to end their lives when their suffering was unbearable . . ."

Stalin Is Just Plain "Joe" to the Maid When He Dines With Molotov Family

WASHINGTON, May 20 (NANA). — A source close to the Kremlin, who refuses to be named, revealed tonight some of the proletarian informality which prevails behind the stern walls where Russia's leaders live.

Josef Stalin, whose Kremlin apartment is not as elaborate as that occupied by Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov and family, lacks a cook at the present time so he often lunches and dines with the Molotovs.

When Stalin sits down at the table there, the maid asks:

"Joe, what will you have?"

The same informality prevails where the Foreign Minister is concerned. The maid calls him "Vyacheslav."

Majority of Overseas Marriages Successful

OTTAWA, May 21 (CP).—The Veterans' Department reported today that a cross-Canada survey has "indicated that the overwhelming majority of overseas marriages of Canadian servicemen are as successful as even the most optimistic could expect."

The survey found that those interviewed among the more than 45,000 British and European brides had two main gripes:

1. Continuation of the "war brides" label long after their honeymoons and two years after the war.

2. The "heartbreak ship" type of publicity that springs up occasionally when a dissatisfied wife heads back to Britain or the Continent.

The department quoted Maj.-Gen. B. W. Browne, C.B., D.S.O., M.C., Assistant National Commissioner of the Canadian Red Cross Society, as agreeing with their finding that the great majority of the marriages are clicking. He was particularly interested in reports from the Prairie Provinces where it might be feared that the spaces and the loneliness would contribute to problems.

"Out of an average of 100 reports from each of the three provinces," he said, "only three or four would recount unhappy cases."

The department reported a "negligible" number of divorces among the 43,695 marriages in Britain and the 2,675 on the continent. In all, those couples have borne 20,812 children. In other words, war marriages have added more than 67,000 to the Canadian population.

New Brunswick was selected by the department as a typical example of what has happened to the marriages. It welcomed 1,820 overseas wives and in January 1,760 were still living there.

Of the others, 38 had moved to other parts of Canada or the United States, one had died, and 21 had returned overseas. Of that 21, six went with husbands who planned to settle down over there; one was a widow; another widow had only come over to meet her husband's people; another wife was called home because of her father's death. Only 12 left Canada because they did not like it and only two of those obtained divorces.

The survey quoted these wives among the many:

Mrs. Vincent Gallant of Toronto, President of the Toronto British War Brides' Association, said more than 5,000 overseas wives with nearly 3,500 children are living in or near Toronto.

Mrs. H. D. Bryan of Winnipeg reported Western cold and mosquitos her chief problems.

Mrs. Louise Wybourne, whose husband died of war wounds in a Canadian hospital, plans to remain here and hopes to bring her mother out from England.

Far East Commission to Plan Peace Conference on Japan

WASHINGTON, May 21 (CP). — State department officials are studying a plan to call a conference in June of the 11 countries (including Canada) on the Far Eastern commission to lay the foundations for a peace conference on Japan.

Gen. Marshall, Secretary of State, is reported to be giving this question priority with a determination to settle the Japanese question as early as possible.

Many problems stand in the way but the proposal holds out the possibility that the Far East peace treaty may be made by all the belligerent powers and not alone by the Big Four as is being attempted in respect of Europe.

If it is to take part in the actual peace writing the commission will have to be reconstituted and given new powers. Its members are Canada, the United Kingdom, the United States, China, France, Russia, India, The Philippines, The Netherlands, Australia and New Zealand.

The commission was set up to supervise Japan's compliance with the terms of surrender. It has no power to settle territorial questions and thus could not, under its present charter, make a treaty.

Among the major questions to be answered before the peace conference can be launched are:

1. At what time and at what place will the conference be held? (San Francisco is favored as the site.)

2. Will the veto power now enjoyed by the United States, United Kingdom, Russia and China, on the Far Eastern commission, be retained if that body becomes the treaty-making authority?

3. Is it to be a "dictated" peace submitted to the Japanese authorities to sign, or will it be a "negotiated" peace with Japanese representatives present.

Seven Killed In U.S. Crash

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., May 21 (UP).—Two top army flying officers and five other soldiers were killed last night when a B-25 crashed in a cornfield during a violent thunderstorm, the United States Army announced today.

The dead included Col. Raymond E. O'Neill, 52, 30-year army veteran of both wars and A.A.F. balloon expert, and Col. George A. Whatley, 45, who had served in the army since 1925 and headed the mobile training unit at Chanute Field, near Champaign.

O'Neill, a brigadier-general in the World War, commanded Chanute Field from 1940 to 1944.

Their ship was bound for Chanute Field from Cheyenne, Wyo., at the time of the crackup last night.

Suspects Held In Vancouver

VANCOUVER, May 21 (CP).—Police today believed they had ended the "carpenter burglaries" here with the arrest of three men, held without charge pending investigation. The oldest of the three is 22, the others 21.

In four drug store burglaries the thieves used a brace and bit to cut their way through walls, and in one burglary through a roof.

The loot totaled more than $1,400, including $1,200 in stamps taken from a drug store branch post office.

LONDON, May 21 (Reuters).—A meteorite weighing about 1,000 tons collided with the earth February 12, according to the first report of the Soviet Scientific Expedition which recently went to Siberia to investigate the phenomenon, Moscow radio reported.

The bride, given in marriage by her mother, was lovely in an afternoon dress of white jersey silk with bolero jacket and cape sleeves. A white shoulder-length veil was held to her head with pink rosebuds and white carnations; her only ornament was a gold locket, the gift of the groom. To complete her costume the bride carried a Colonial bouquet of pale pink rosebuds, white carnations and mauve sweet peas.

Pretty Wedding At St. Alban's

St. Alban's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday evening when Marian Ruth Marriage, daughter of Mrs. H. Marriage, 3124 Glasgow Avenue, became the bride of Ivor Jacobson, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Jacobson, 1235 Walnut Street, at a ceremony performed by Rev. F. E. M. Tomalin. During the signing of the registry, Irene Collins played "Adoration," on the violin.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. W. Good, was lovely in her gown of brocaded satin fashioned with net over taffeta skirt, and sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil was caught to a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried red roses and white carnations. A pearl necklace and earings, gifts from the groom, were her only ornaments.

Mrs. G. West, matron of honor, chose a dress of pale blue, fashioned with satin bodice and net over taffeta skirt. The bridesmaid, Frances Lohouse, wore a dress of pale yellow sheer and the little flowergirl, Carol Lohouse, wore a white crepe dress. All three attendants wore flower wreaths in their hair and carried bouquets of carnations and sweet peas.

Mr. George Doughty was groomsman and Mr. Arthur Janke acted as usher.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, for about 60 guests. A buffet supper was served.

For a motor trip to the United States the bride donned a grey figured crepe dress, gold coat, black accessories and corsage of roses and carnations.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson will reside at Port Alberni.

Visits were also made to seamen at the Veterans' Centre at Gordon Head and several dozen pairs of socks had been distributed to them. Several pensioners were looked after and supplied with Christmas cheer and fuel.

Theatre Trial Is Adjourned

Trial of Michael M. Golden, managing director of West Coast Theatres, Ltd., operators of the York Theatre here, on a charge laid under the Wartime Labor Relations Regulations Act, was adjourned in city police court yesterday for the production of certain of the company's records pertaining to the discharge of the theatre staff.

Mr. Golden, who was charged with unlawfully seeking by dismissal to compel an employee from membership in a trade union, said on the witness stand that he had given his entire staff, including the assistant manager, seven days' notice after some members had joined the Theatrical Assistants' Guild, Federal Union No. 252, A.F.L.

He said he had received complaints from customers that the theatre staff was lax in its duties on March 21, this year, when a member of the union had been present at the theatre to "solicit the staff."

"I had no alternative but to discharge the assistant manager who permitted this," Mr. Golden declared.

George Wilkinson, secretary of the Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council, who laid the information on which the charge was based, described a meeting on March 22 with Mr. Golden during which he said Mr. Golden stated the theatre staff had been "disloyal" and had "stabbed him in the back." Mr. Golden had been absent in Vancouver on March 21, it was stated.

Mr. Wilkinson said the theatre manager had refused at that time to reinstate the staff even if they withdraw from the union.

On Monday evening, Miss Joyce Boutler, Monterey Avenue, entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Marie Blake. Upon arrival, the guest of honor was presented with a corsage bouquet of red rosebuds. The guests included Misses Beryl Norman, Ruth Wilkinson, Leslie Rimmer, Maureen Patmore, Hazel Giles, Irene Fairbairn and Margaret Angus.

Rear Admiral Supports Young People

Rear Admiral E. R. Mainguy, O.B.E., R.C.N., officer commanding Pacific Coast, disagrees with current "sweeping statements that the youth of the nation is not up to par."

Speaking to the annual Victoria Inter-City Hi-Y Students-Teacher banquet last night, the admiral relied on personal experiences to explain his belief that there is usually a small nucleus of "trouble makers" responsible for disturbances which cast a shadow over an entire group.

He praised the Hi-Y members for belonging to the "10 per cent of the population which does not follow blindly or is pushed, but organizes enthusiastically with a specific aim of beneficial achievement."

Arnold Ramer, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A., also a guest at the large gathering, presented achievement seals to Bill Floyd, president of the Esquimalt Hi-Y; Bill Langas, president of the Sidney Hi-Y; Evan Oakley, president of the Victoria Alpha Chapter and to Don Elliot, president of the Beta Chapter.

The event was arranged by Peter Spence, boys' secretary for the Y.M.C.A. Don Elliot was chairman.

Oak Bay Plans To Employ Older Veterans

Objections of two Victoria auctioneering firms, Maynard & Sons and Fred Smith & Company, to the payment of licence fees for auctions held in Oak Bay, were tabled for further consideration at the next meeting by the municipal council last night.

Payment of $40 semi-annually by this type of business firm as a trade licence is laid down in Oak Bay's new trade licence by-law.

Councillor W. C. Ellis suggested that these firms, which carry on only a small portion of their business in Oak Bay, should be required to pay a set fee for each auction held in the municipality. It was pointed out, however, that such procedure is not permitted under the Municipal Act.

Council approved a request from the navy league for a tag day on Saturday, June 21.

A request from C. E. Moore for an amendment to zoning regulations to permit the renovation of his property into a hotel was tabled to allow the applicant to appear before the council and outline his plans.

Councillors agreed they were sympathetic to representations made by the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council regarding employment of older veterans and adopted a policy that these persons would be employed by Oak Bay wherever possible.

An invitation to Reeve Walter Walker and councillors to take part in the May 24 parade was accepted by the council and the clerk authorized to obtain an automobile to carry the council in the procession.

Council went into a committee of the whole following the regular session to consider the school building program and the new transportation franchise but it was announced that no decision on either would be reached last night.

Reeve Walter Walker said that a special meeting would be called in the near future to decide both questions.

Mrs. E. Walker entertained on Wednesday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. H. Norris, 556 Toronto Street, at a cup and saucer shower in honor of her sister, Miss Joyce Norris, a May bride-elect. Corsage bouquets were presented to the guest of honor and her mother. A decorated basket containing many lovely gifts was carried into the room by little Joyce Walker, niece of the bride-to-be, and Doreen Swallow, of Winnipeg. Guests were Mrs. A. Copp, Mrs. F. Greenidge, Mrs. H. Zarouk, Mrs. J. Sneade, Mrs. A. Chandler, Mrs. R. Cumberbirch, Mrs. W. H. Mellish, Mrs. A. Romain, Mrs. F. Swallow (Winnipeg) and Misses L. Wilson, H. Wilson and K. Appleyard.

Bee Farming Big Business In Province

Bee farming is becoming big business in British Columbia.

Under new controls on movement of colonies of bees provided by an amendment to the Apiaries Act this year, the Provincial apiarist must be notified within 60 days of any sale of bees within the province.

First report under this new restriction was received by the Department of Agriculture yesterday.

It showed that one firm had sold 423 packages of bees and 118 queens to some 300 beekeepers in all parts of the province, including the Peace River district.

Although the sales were handled by a single British Columbia firm, the colonies actually were imported from California.

Entertain in Honor Of 25th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Beaumont were honored on the occasion of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, when their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Beaumont, entertained at a party on Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Beaumont were married in the Wilkinson Road United Church by the Rev. F. Hardy, in 1922.

On arrival, the bride of 25 years ago was presented with a corsage of white carnations tied with silver ribbon. A silver wedding cake centred the dining-room table and was cut by the bride and groom. Dr. J. B. Rowell proposed the toast.

Children Steal Courtenay Car

COURTENAY, May 21. — Police were amazed when they captured two alleged automobile thieves after a wild chase, during which several shots were fired, on the highway at Fanny Bay.

The occupants were two small boys, neither of which was big enough to drive by himself. One sat on the floor pushing down the accelerator while the other steered.

The car was stolen from the home of Dr. Bruce Gordon, of Courtenay. Police said the boys admitted breaking into a Courtenay store prior to the theft of the car.

Sparkling Comedy Opens at Atlas

"My Sweet Embraceable You" would be an apt theme song for lovely Jeanne Crain and handsome Glenn Langan in 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor comedy-drama, "Margie," which comes today to the Atlas Theatre. In the film Jeanne plays a dual role—first as a sixteen-year-old high school girl, then as a mother of a fourteen-year-old daughter. Langan appears as a high school French teacher with whom Jeanne falls madly in love. The film's poignant and hilarious story is set against the background of the frivolous twenties, and reveals the rollicking antics and innocent escapades of teen-agers in a Midwestern city during those hey-hey days.

Story of Murder And Love at York

Lana Turner more glamorously appealing than ever before, John Garfield in the most powerful role of his career. A strange, explosive love story, an action-packed tale of romance, murder and ironic retribution. That's "The Postman Always Rings Twice," opening today at the York screen.

This grimly dramatic James M. Cain best-seller is brought to the screen by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with every emotional and dramatic turn emphasized, co-starring Miss Turner and Garfield in one of their most significant roles.

ROYAL THEATRE "Lady in the Lake" is now showing at the Royal Theatre and stars Robert Montgomery. Heading the supporting cast is blonde Audrey Totter, playing the part of a beautiful brainy magazine editor who knows what she wants and how to go about getting it. Others in prominent roles include Lloyd Nolan, as a tough cop, Tom Tully, Leon Ames, Jayne Meadows and Dick Simmons.

RIO THEATRE Packed with the love songs always at the top of America's hit parade . . . with the romance of two hot-headed sweethearts who love as only the Irish can. Damon Runyon's "Irish Eyes Are Smiling," ends tonight at the Rio Theatre. The 20th Century-Fox Technicolor musical starring Monty Woolley, June Haver and Dick Haymes, is based on the life of Ernest R. Ball, America's greatest composer of sentimental ballads.

PLAZA THEATRE Even geniuses have their fling. Rimsky-Korsakoff became enamored of a vivacious Spanish dancer during a sojourn in a sweltering Mediterranean port, according to "Song of Scheherazade," Universal-International's romantic Technicolor film, which ends tonight at the Plaza Theatre. Yvonne De Carlo, Brian Donlevy and Jean Pierre Aumont are starred.

DOMINION THEATRE Murder stalks the romance of Douglas Fowley and Louise Currie when Robert Shayne draws a bead on them in one of the scenes in the Sol M. Wurtzel production, "Backlash," released by 20th Century-Fox, ending tonight at the Dominion Theatre. The suspenseful drama unfolds the story of a beautiful woman whose insanely jealous husband plots to have her charged with murder—a murder that was never committed.

CAPITOL THEATRE Marshall Thompson and "Bess," trained show horse, have the leading roles in "Gallant Bess," stirring drama of the devotion of a Seabee for his equine pal. The new M-G-M picture, filmed in Cinecolor, is now delighting audiences at the Capitol Theatre, with George Tobias, Clem Bevans and Donald Curtis in the cast.

Finance–Commerce–Markets

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, May 21 (AP).—Stocks staged their third best performance of the year in today's market with gains ranging to around 3 points. Steels, motors, oils, beverages and some special stocks, were prominent risers.

Commission houses said the rally stemmed in part from a dissipation of many fears over the business outlook and from belief that the large short interest existing indicated a strengthening of internal position and a temporary over-sold condition of many issues. Among favorable factors was a flood of dividend actions, including American Telephone's usual $2.25 common declaration.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite climbed .9 of a point, its best rise since February 7, to 86.6.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, May 21 (CP).—The United Kingdom took 160,000 bushels of wheat under the Canadian agreement on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. In the coarse grains market, rye prices were irregular. A fulness was noted in early trading, but later in the day a selling flurry carried prices down on lack of support. October and December rye futures made new seasonal gains.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, May 21 (AP).—Grains fluctuated in a nervous and erratic manner on the Board of Trade today, influenced by conflicting reports of possible rust damage to wheat in Texas. Prices were higher at the start, dropped a few cents around mid-day, staged a moderate rally in the afternoon, and then backed down quickly in the last 30 minutes of trading.

MOLLY McGEE SAYS:

"What a bright idea for a beautiful floor, McGee!"

For a really bright shine, use Johnson's Glo-Coat

It's true! The beautiful shine that Johnson's Glo-Coat gives your linoleum is as bright a self-polishing shine as science has produced. And it's so easy to apply. You just spread Glo-Coat around and it shines as it dries in just 20 minutes. No rubbing—no buffing!

You give your floors more than beauty when you give them Glo-Coat care. Actually, they have the protection of wax so they last longer. And when things spill, you just wipe them up with a damp cloth. So easy to keep your linoleum looking its loveliest! No wonder more women use Glo-Coat than any other floor polish. Try it yourself!

Salt Spring News

MARK ANNIVERSARY

Salt Spring P.T.-A. met Friday at the United School, Ganges, with Mrs. D. K. Crofton presiding. Mrs. J. Graham, Mrs. Donald Goodman and H. Carlin were elected on the nomination committee. It was decided to retain Mrs. Guy Cunningham as historian and to appoint a hospital visiting convener at the next meeting. Mrs. D. K. Crofton, Mrs. J. D. Reil, Mrs. F. Sharpe and Mrs. W. L. Rogers, who attended the P.-T.A. provincial convention in Victoria as delegates, each gave their report, and it was stated that Salt Spring had been awarded a special card for its 10 per cent increase in membership. Mrs. G. St. Denis reported on the successful Easter dance, at which $115 was realized. A cheque for $100 was forwarded to the members of the Students Council towards the construction of tennis courts and $10 was voted towards the expenses of provincial delegates to the national convention. Following a quiz contest, conducted by Mrs. J. D. Reid and Mrs. Laurie Mouat, a supper to commemorate the second anniversary of the formation of the local branch of the organization was served, under the convenership of Mrs. B. Krebs, Mrs. George Nelson and Mrs. Malczewski, at an attractively decorated table, centred with an anniversary cake donated by Mrs. D. K. Crofton.

WELCOME NEW MEMBERS

The W.A. of the Salt Spring Island branch, Canadian Legion, met recently at Ganges Inn, with Mrs. Cecil Springford presiding. The installment of officers by the first vice-president of the Legion, Colin F. Mouat, was followed by the initiation of five new members, Mrs. L. V. Harraway, Mrs. W. E. Dipple, Mrs. P. Burnett, Mrs. George Heinekey and Mrs. R. Atkins. The president thanked Mrs. J. B. Acland for carrying on with the work of the W.A. during her unavoidable absence. Miss A. C. Howard was elected secretary in place of Miss Catherine Popham, who is leaving for Victoria. Mrs. Colin Mouat was appointed ex-personal convener, Mrs. Dipple, hospital visitor, and Mrs. G. Heinekey in charge of the layette for the Queen Charlotte Hospital, London, England. Under the convenorship of Mrs. A. Francis, a launch picnic will be held on July 16, Group Capt. A. E. Layard, Dr. Francis and Cecil Springford having kindly offered their boats for the trip, leaving from Vesuvius Bay. The following resolution, proposed by Mrs. Acland, was unanimously carried: "That this branch of the W.A. recognizes, with sincere appreciation, the valuable work undertaken by the Ganges Chapter I.O.D.E. in its untiring efforts for the welfare of the community as a whole, and, in the absence of a Legion W.A., for the veterans and their families. And that we make it one of our first duties to co-operate with the I.O.D.E. at all times."

The next meeting will be held on June 11.

Meat for Children

By Dr. J. B. WARREN

Meat and eggs are Nature's greatest body building and growth-giving foods. Good beefsteak, roast lamb, chicken and turkey are the best foods with well-cured ham for breakfast. Meats should not be overcooked. Meat can be scraped or put through the grinder which does not take away from its nourishing qualities yet enables the youngster to digest it more readily. Not large amounts of meat are needed by children, but it should be given once or twice daily.

Tacomans Plaster 12-1 Loss on A's

Carl Shapley Hurls Tigers to Easy Win In Deciding Game of Series Before 1,800

HOW THEY STAND

	W	L	Pct
Bremerton	24	11	.686
Victoria	20	16	.556
Spokane	19	14	.576
Vancouver	17	15	.531
Salem	18	18	.500
Tacoma	16	18	.471
Yakima	14	22	[illegible]
Wenatchee	9	22	.290

Last night's scores: Wenatchee 10, Spokane 4; Bremerton 3, Vancouver 2; [illegible] 8, Salem 6; Victoria 1, Tacoma 12.

Victoria Athletics' [illegible] solid right-handed batting [illegible] again found a southpaw tough pickings last night as the Tacoma Tigers handed them a 12-1 trouncing behind the brilliant five-hit pitching of Carl Shapley, to take the three-game series, 2-1.

Seldom have the hard-hitting A's looked as weak at the plate as they did last night, and their only run was a gift resulting from a high fly by Jensen, which went for a triple when Rightfielder Greco lost it in the lights. Losers loaded the bags in the fifth, with no one out, and failed to score. In the seventh, Shapley walked the first two batters and easily escaped damage. Jensen led off with a triple in the fourth and died on the bags.

Shapley, his control slipping only twice, was complete master all the way. The portsider displayed a neat outcurve as well as the usual wrong-handed bender.

Manager Ted Norbert changed his pitching plans, and started Dick Mitchell instead of Ray Portier, and it was as well he did. Portier would have needed a shut out to win. Mitchell was unable to get the side out in the first inning, and Joe Blankenship returned to his fireman duties to finish it out.

Four runs in the first sewed it up with Greco's two-run circuit clout the big blow. Guy Miller, playing himself into shape after joining the Tigers a few days ago from the services, also clouted one out of the park and scintillated at shortstop.

DIAMOND DUST

Only good news for the A's last night was the possibility that Vic Mastro may get back into action sooner than expected. His big war club is being missed . . . Max Hittle is out of action with a chipped elbow, and may be lost for some time. Dick Mitchell has been suffering from a sore back, and Joe Blankenship has been seeing so much action that Manager Ted Norbert has been hard-pressed for relief pitchers . . . A new catcher is still being awaited, but should arrive soon . . . Another pitcher or two and Tacoma will figure in the league pennant race. They have good power right down their batting order, and an adequate defensive club . . . Attendance continues up over last year, with about 5,000 taking in the three Tacoma games.

Cubs on Top In National

Leadership in the National League which has been like a hot potato with the top spot alternating virtually every day was taken over by Chicago Cubs yesterday. Cubs defeated the Phillies, 2-1, to edge past New York Giants into first place.

While the Giant-Reds game was rained out the Cubs were taking their second victory in a two-game series with the Phils. It was the Cubs' third straight triumph and their fifth in a row over the Philadelphia club.

In the only other scheduled game in the National, Brooklyn salvaged the final game of a disastrous road trip by nosing out the last-place Cards, 4-3, in ten innings on Cookie Lavagetto's single.

The three American League night games were highlighted by the game at New York where Pitcher Frank Shea and Outfielders Joe DiMaggio combined to give Yankees a 5-0 whitewashing over Detroit.

Shea, turning in his fourth win in five starts, allowed only four hits while DiMaggio doubled with the bases loaded in the first inning for three runs.

Auto Racers Open Season Saturday

Improved Langford Speedway Set for First 1947 Meet—Caldwell, Green Head U.S. Entry

The familiar roar of racing cars will be heard at the Langford Speedway on Saturday with approximately 20 cars, including eight or nine from south of the border, opening the 1947 season with what promises to be a gala holiday event.

Extensive repairs have been made at the Langford track under the direction of Bruce Passmore, new owner of the racing strip.

A new grandstand with seating capacity for about 1,000 extra patrons and a newly resurfaced track will provide extra comfort and better racing for fans. An electric eye for timing is planned in the near future and may even be ready for opening night.

Victoria drivers are out to keep much of the prize money at home and several new cars will be making their first appearance as well as those which competed last season. Several new drivers will also show for the first time along with the familiar old-timers.

Although local drivers will outnumber the American entries, the latter will feature some of the outstanding drivers in the Northwest. Heading the United States entries are Digger Caldwell and Bud Green, now Seattle residents.

Green will pilot his No. 44 car which Jack Paulding handled at the Langford track last year. It is believed Caldwell will be at the wheel of his No. 5 machine, which practically swept the state last season.

Zeke Zeigler, Lloyd Blair, Gene and Del Paulding, Forrest Ramsey, Al Higgins, Daryl Baker and Pike Green who will be driving Chuck House's hot No. 25 buggy are other United States throttle pushers slated to appear.

Dave Cooper, Roy Vincent, Jerry Vantreight, Jack Norton, Corkie Thomas, Bob Wensley, Ron Haslam, Jimmy Henderson, Jimmy Laird, Howard Stanton, Ken McMurray, Jack Patterson and Babe Eng are the Victoria drivers who will attempt to take down a share of the prize money.

Bill Barisoff Again Smashes Pay-Off Blows

VANCOUVER, May 21 (CP)—The booming bat of Bill Barisoff once more spelled doom for Vancouver Capilanos as the league-leading Bremerton Bluejackets defeated the Caps 3-2 in an 11-inning Western International Baseball League game here tonight, to sweep the three-game series.

Bremerton rang up their first run in the seventh when Bill Reese doubled and Bill Barisoff drove him home on a triple off the left field wall. In the eighth, Vancouver tied up the game on Pitcher Sandy Robertson's 340-foot homer.

In the top of the 11th Al Maul singled and Barisoff punched out a payoff homer over the left field wall for the winning runs. The fifth homer for last year's W.I.L. home run king, Barisoff's circuit smashes have proved the winning blow in as many games.

In the last half of the 11th Vancouver's [illegible] Mullens made the score 3-2 on the game's third four-base smash.

Legion to Oppose United Next Week

Canadian Legion and Victoria United will meet in the Victoria final of The Province Cup playdowns at Heywood Avenue Park next Wednesday at 6.15 p.m. The match to be scheduled between Oak Bay and the United was cancelled when Oak Bay found itself forced to default through player shortage.

Interest in the match runs high among soccer fans as Legion has played smart football all season and should give the inter-city boys a run for the right to meet Nanaimo here on Saturday, May 31, in the Island final.

W.I.L. Leaders Open Series

Boasting a three-and-one-half-game lead as other first division clubs fell off the pace in the past two days, Bremerton's powerful Bluejackets invade Victoria today for a four-game series which should provide the tops in baseball entertainment.

They meet the Athletics tonight and tomorrow night and wind up the first meeting of the season between the two clubs with two holiday games on Saturday.

The series will provide a test of strength for the A's and they will need at least a split to stay close to the leaders. The Tars boast a veteran crew with most of last year's club back with some first-rate editions, giving them excellent pitching, good defensive strength and a power-loaded batting order, headed by Bill Barisoff, W.I.L. home run champion.

BILL BARISOFF

Eddie Murphy, a Victoria favorite last season, and Hooks Devaurs give them an outstanding outer trio. Shortstop Joe Oedzius, the best in the league last year, and Bill Reese, converted to a third baseman, are back in the infield along with Allan Maul and Bushong, at first and second, respectively.

Frank Volpi, another returnee, is the No. 1 maskman. Hub Kittle, Jim Lowman and Joe Sullivan, ex-Detroit Tiger, head a tough mound staff. Alan Strange, former Seattle infield star, is the master mind.

Athletics face the series minus Vic Mastro, but with their pitching in fair shape. Ray Portier will take the mound tonight, to be followed by Bill Woop tomorrow and Bill Prior and Len Kasparovitch on Saturday unless some of the starters have to be used for relief.

Needing a sweep to take first place, the Norbertmen will go all out for a series win and a world series air should prevail at Athletic Park for the next three days. With a break from the weatherman, it seems likely that a new attendance mark for four games may be set.

High Schools Set For Track Meets

Athletes of Greater Victoria's high schools have been prepping for the past month for tomorrow's track and field meets. Students of Oak Bay, Victoria, Mount View and Mount Douglas High Schools will take part in their own inter-house meets at their respective schools on Friday.

Winners of events in these meets will qualify to enter the Greater Victoria Sports Council's Track and Field Meet at Victoria High School grounds on Wednesday, May 28. Top flight athletes of the Greater Victoria meet will be sent to Vancouver on May 30, 31 to compete in the British Columbia Inter-High School Track and Field Championships at Varsity Stadium. Sheila Stanley, Roy Temple and Ernie Costain will accompany the athletes to Vancouver.

Electrons Capture Fourth Straight

Findley Electrons defeated Jordan River 12-1 in a Colwood and District senior "B" men's softball game last night. The victory was Electrons' fourth straight. Electrons will be opposed by Langford at the latter's home ground in what should be a keen game at 6.30 p.m. Sunday.

Victoria Amateurs Flash Form As Practice Ends at Uplands

By VERN BUTLER

Everything is in readiness for the opening of the 1947 B.C. Men's Amateur Golf Championship at Uplands Golf Club today with the first foursome scheduled to tee off in the qualifying round at 8 a.m. A field of 88 simon-pure linksmen from B.C. are entered in the title hunt.

Walter Gravelin's pro-shop was busier than a bargain basement but the genial pro and the Uplands staff had the rush well in hand.

Victoria golfers posted the lowest rounds on the day's practice as Vancouver's best were still having trouble with that North wind and the tricky greens. [illegible] Morrison of Uplands, shot the best practice round, a neat par 70. Doc Bigelow 71; Billy McColl, 71, and Walt Newcombe, 74.

Bob Foulis had no trouble posting a 71. Lyle Hurschman steadied down to a 72; Walt McAlpine, 72. [illegible] Morrison and Doug Morrison both had 72-73 for 36 holes. Monty Hill shot a 73 for his first practice round. Walt McElroy 74 and Jackie Reynolds 76, topped Vancouver's shotmakers.

New Ruling Irks Douglas Tire As Aces Win 12-Inning Game

A little-known section of the softball rule book was the deciding factor in giving Brentwood Aces a thrilling 7-6, senior "A" men's softball victory over Douglas Tire in 12 innings last night, and caused an altercation before protesting Tiremen were subdued.

The ruling brought in this year by the British Columbia body involves a so-called balk by the catcher, allowing runners to advance. Aces' Billie Benn who reached third in the 12th inning of the tight duel, was waved home by Umpire Morley Armstrong, when Catcher Henry Harris stepped out of his natural position in order to receive pitchouts for an intentional walk to batter Furmston.

Aces came from behind to win, pushing across four runs in the eighth after the Tiremen had taken an early 4-0 lead and increased it to 5-2 in the seventh.

Johnson came in with the tying run for the Tiremen in the ninth on Andrews' hit and from then until the 12th teams battled unsuccessfully to break the deadlock. Gunter, who came in for Bryant in the 12th, was charged with the loss. Hough was the winning pitcher.

The league-leading Esquimalt Meat Market trounced A.N. and A.F. Vets 15-2, after being behind 2-0 going into the last half of the fifth, when they marked up seven runs and went on to win.

Vic Dale hit two homers and a double and Kinch hit a four-bagger for winners. Fielding gem of the evening was pulled off by shortstop Ab Ellis, of Esquimalt, who made a great one-hand stab of Hudlin's grounder to throw the runner out at first.

Other softball scores are as follows: Don Harvey Enterprises 16, J. H. and E. 7; Superior Produce, 11, Legion Bombers, 4; Hot Shots, 6, Sidney Girls, 4; R.C.A.F., 25, Sidney Duroids, 2.

New Method and B.C. Forest Products arrived at different parks and as a result their scheduled game failed to come off.

Tuesday's scores were as follows: Vets 18, Penguins 10; Victoria Merchants 10, Dominion Meat Market 5; Army and Navy Taxi Girls 10, Eaglettes 2; Hep Cats 34, Spencers 4.

Oak Bay-Five C's Meet on Saturday

Winners of last Saturday's matches will meet for undisputed position at the top of the standings when Oak Bay opposes Five C's at H.M.C.S. Naden grounds this Saturday at 2.30 p.m.

Both sides will field strong elevens for the match which should be one of the features of the holiday sports program.

The other match on Saturday between last week's losers, University School Incogs and Albions, at University School should also be an interesting one.

First and second elevens of Brentwood College both triumphed in matches held at the school yesterday. The first eleven defeated H.M.C.S. Naden 99 runs to 75. McMahon batted 39 for winners, while Oliver compiled 21 for Naden. Second eleven won from University School 61-38.

Present Sid Thomas Trophy Tonight

First award of the Sid Thomas Memorial Trophy, to be presented each year to Victoria's outstanding amateur athlete, will be made tonight at Royal Athletic Park with Mayor Percy E. George officially handing over the huge bronze trophy to Peter Salmon, ranking Canadian swimming star, in a home-plate presentation prior to the start of the Bremerton-Victoria W.I.L. baseball game.

Mrs. Eleanor Thomas, wife of the late Colonist sports editor, will also participate in the presentation and will present Salmon with a wrist watch on behalf of The Daily Colonist. Lee Hallberg will introduce the Mayor and Mrs. Thomas.

Salmon, who is one of the best-known swimmers in the Dominion and holds several Canadian records, was selected for the honor by a committee consisting of Archie McKinnon, Tommy Restell and Bob Whyte from suggestions submitted by Victoria sports fans.

Over 200 letters were received from interested sports followers, supporting their various choices and making the task of the committee a difficult one in selecting the winning athlete. Salmon was a unanimous choice, his record over the past year surprising even the closest sports fan when his accomplishments were listed.

For his achievements, Salmon will take possession of the trophy for one year and receive a suitably engraved replica for permanent possession in addition to the wrist watch.

The trophy was donated by Brock Whitney, team sponsor and a keen sports fan, to commemorate the memory of Sid Thomas, who devoted much of his time over a long period of years in fostering amateur sport in the city in general and juvenile sport in particular.

Chicago Loop Proves Baseball Isn't Necessarily Male Sport

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO, May 21 (AP)—If you think baseball is a man's game, then you haven't seen the curves in the National Girl's Baseball League.

More than 100 lassies from 21 states and Canada begin playing professional baseball in Chicago tonight, at salaries ranging from $40 to $100 weekly.

Six teams of the league will play a 90-game night schedule before winding up the season on Labor Day. Total attendance is expected to top 500,000, an increase of 20 per cent from last year and five times the inaugural gate of 1943.

Money has been pumped into the four playing fields spotted throughout the city in lively competition to outdo each other in attractiveness, comfort and convenience, and now television has picked up the trail and will shoot many of the games.

Foremost in the "dress parade" is the Parichy Stadium, home of the Bloomer Girls. The other five clubs are called the Bluebirds, Cardinals, Chicks, Queens and Music Maids. Emery Parichy, a roofing and [illegible] magnate, has unfolded $80,000 in the last three years enlarging and grooming his park until now it stands out in its West Side surroundings like a diamond in the rough. Seating capacity is 4,500.

His girls' dressing room—a somewhat gaudy red and white affair replete with individual shower rooms, clothes closets, shoe racks and a theatrical mirrored dressing table—set him back $7,500 this season.

Club owners like to theorize that their professional league has opened new careers for the girls at better money. Of the more than 100 who are under contract, at least 80 are from outside Chicago. About 25 of them augment their baseball salary as stenographers, beauty parlor operators and factory assembly line jobbers.

If you want the feminine angle, the average girl baseball player is 22 years old, five feet five inches tall, weighs 127 pounds and wears red fingernail polish.

Bays Boxla Team To Open Season

J.B.A.A. senior "B" lacrosse team will make its first start this season when it stacks up against Jokers in tonight's fixture at the newly-improved Stevenson Park box.

The Bays are aiming for a win to make their season's opener a success while Jokers, who dropped their first game to the defending champion Legion squad, will be out to chalk up their first victory.

Limit Field of 17 Forecast For King's Plate Saturday

By HARRY ECCLES

TORONTO, May 21 (CP).—A limit field of 17—as many as the track can accommodate—today appeared a distinct possibility for the 88th renewal, Saturday, of the King's Plate, the oldest continuously-run horse race in North America.

It won't be until Friday afternoon's entries that the definite starting field can be lined up but 23 hopefuls contested the two divisions of the Plate trial last Saturday and of these at least 10 are certain to start. Additional probables may bring the field to 14, 15 or 16.

Of the King's Plate field, racegoers already have decided that C. George McCullagh's colt Tularch is the horse to beat. Tularch is a son of Archworth, whose King's Plate victory in 1939 saw His Majesty personally present the 50 guineas to Mr. McCullagh, publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail.

Tularch won one division of last Saturday's Plate trial in 1:13 3/5 for the six furlongs, while the other division was captured by Leonforte owned by the Braeside Stable operated by Jim Coleman, sports columnist on Mr. McCullagh's newspaper. Leonforte needed 1:14 3/5 and was driving at the finish whereas Tularch won easily.

But the King's Plate is a mile and an eighth, or three furlongs longer than the Plate trial and performance of several contenders finishing in the ruck in the trial promised well for their showing in the Plate itself.

The Don Earl Stable's highly-regarded Watch Wrack, forced to miss the Plate trial because of a hoof crack, appeared today to be a likely starter in the Guineas. The Teddy Wrack colt worked out yesterday and today.

Besides Tularch and Leonforte, the virtually certain starters include Mulligan, Tressiron, Kanlee, Sweep Comet, Victory Chimes, Barboy and Dirigo, plus Watch Wrack.

London Market

LONDON, May 21 (CP).—An initial advance was not fully maintained in late trading on the stock market today, and the close was barely steady.

Steadier overnight conditions on Wall Street had no effect on the London market, which remained unsettled as a result of the nervous Indian situation, combined with uncertainties in the economic outlook.

Gold mining shares eased on late Johannesburg selling. Copper shares were mostly lower, but losses were not heavy.

Figure it out for yourself. Take today's estimated cost. Add to it the probable extra cost on account of rising prices, also one year's rent to be paid while your house would be built, then tack on several days lost from work, an enormous amount of delays, substitutions, and so on, and then come down and let us show you a brand new home at the old price, and move in immediately.

TAXI DEMOLISHED IN CHEMAINUS TRAIN COLLISION

Photograph shows remains of a taxi driven by Rufus Smith, Chemainus, shortly after a collision with an Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway passenger train near Chemainus late Tuesday afternoon. A garage wrecking car which pulled the battered mass of metal away from the scene of the accident is shown at the extreme left. Mr. Smith was reported to be in a serious condition at Chemainus Hospital last night. Mrs. Ralph Murray, a passenger in the taxi, was also critically injured. The automobile was carried 700 feet on the cowcatcher of the locomotive, according to Provincial Police.

Heroic Boys Save Child At Galiano

GALIANO ISLAND, May 21—Timothy Bambrick, four, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bambrick, who operate a store at South Galiano Island, was saved from drowning by two other children at 5 p.m. Tuesday.

Timothy was running along the South Galiano Island float, and failed to stop when he reached the end. He plunged head first into 20 feet of water.

Robert Bennett, nine, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bennett, waited until Timothy rose to the surface, seized him by the hair, and kept him from sinking again. Robert Bambrick, six, brother of Timothy, helped young Bennett drag the child onto the float.

Timothy was none the worse for his experience, but both boys who staged the heroic rescue suffered from shock.

It is expected that residents of Galiano Island will call attention of the Royal Humane Society to the rescue.

J. Ferrari and A. Doehle spent a day fixing the bridging between 30-foot joists erected last Sunday by W. Banks, L. Nicholls, R. Nash, M. Shelly, A. Doehle, S. Harrison and Eric Colmer.

Afternoon refreshments donated by the ladies for the workers has become an institution, with Mrs. W. Shelly brewing gallons of coffee every Sunday.

Little Stories for Bedtime - - -

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

NO ONE BELIEVES PETER RABBIT

"They were as big as the tracks of Farmer Brown's boy," said Peter, his big, round eyes round with excitement.

It is hard not to be believed. Ask Peter Rabbit. He knows. Yes, indeed, he knows. It is bad enough not to be believed when one is telling the truth, but to tell the truth and then have everybody tell you that they don't believe you is worse still. Anyway, Peter Rabbit thinks so. To make it worse, it was great news that Peter had to tell, and, of course, he might just as well have had no news at all.

It all came from Peter's curiosity to see the deepest part of the Green Forest when everything was covered with snow. Of course, he had to satisfy that curiosity. It wouldn't have been like Peter not to have done so. So off he went all by himself way into the deepest part of the Green Forest, close to the foot of the Great Mountain, and there he found it so still that he could feel the stillness. Anyway, that's what he said. And it was so lonesome there that Peter would have been afraid of his own shadow had he seen it. He had made up his mind that no one ever visited that part of the Green Forest, at least not in the Winter time, when suddenly he saw tracks. And such tracks! It was those tracks that had made Peter all his present trouble. You see, no one would believe Peter when he told about those tracks.

The first one Peter saw after getting back to the dear Old Brier Patch was Sammy Jay, and though Peter doesn't like Sammy, he just had to tell him about those strange tracks.

"They were as big as the tracks of Farmer Brown's boy," said Peter, his big eyes round with excitement.

"Probably he made them," said Sammy Jay shortly.

"But they were not his tracks, only something like his—the ones he makes in the mud around the Swimming Pool when he goes swimming in the Summer, and you know as well as I do that he never makes that kind of tracks in the Winter, Sammy Jay," cried Peter.

Sammy looked sharply at Peter and began to laugh.

"Besides," Peter hurried on, "whoever made those tracks had claws, great, great big claws."

Sammy laughed harder than ever and in the almost provoking way. "Do you expect me to believe any such story as that, Peter Rabbit?" he demanded. "You better not talk to me about not telling the truth when you tell such a story as that," and off flew Sammy, still laughing to think that Peter should try to make him believe such a foolish story.

Peter looked after him and scratched his head thoughtfully. "Those tracks did look something like those of Farmer Brown's boy," he muttered. "They were rounder, but they were big and they had toes, and—well, perhaps they didn't look very much like them, but they did look something like them, and I said something. I believe I'll go tell Chatterer the Red Squirrel about them."

But Chatterer laughed at Peter just as Sammy Jay had. "You've had a bad dream, Peter. That's what's the matter with you. Whoever heard of anyone in the Green Forest who made tracks like those. Why, Bowser the Hound makes the biggest tracks with claw marks, as you ought to know by this time. You've had a dream, Peter, and now you better run away and forget it."

It was the same way with Tommy Tit the Chickadee and Mrs. Grouse and Billy Mink and everyone else he told the story to. Everyone laughed at him and no one believed him. Poor Peter grew quite miserable, for he knew what his eyes had seen, and it was dreadfully hard to be laughed at and have fun poked at him just because he insisted that he had seen those strange tracks.

Plan Busy Empire Day At Nanaimo

NANAIMO, May 21.—Nanaimo Native Sons, Post No. 3, is again in charge of Nanaimo's celebration of Empire Day this year. Last year members put on a show which was considered one of the finest, and this year their plans are more elaborate.

A final meeting of all committees was held Wednesday. There will be three days of entertainment. Friday, at 6 p.m., children's sports will be held at Central Sports Grounds, followed at 7 p.m. by the crowning of May Queen Jean Griffiths, after which children of Brechin School will put on Maypole dancing.

At 11 a.m. Saturday there will be a baseball game between Nanaimo and Campbell River. At 2 p.m. a parade, with the largest number of entries ever listed, will be held through the main streets of the city. At 3:30 p.m. loggers' sports will take place at the Sports Grounds, and at 8 p.m. folk dancing will be seen at the Civic Arena. At 6:30 p.m. a second baseball game will be played between Nanaimo and Campbell River. At 9:15 p.m., in the Civic Arena, the Canadian Legion lacrosse team of Victoria will meet the Nanaimo team.

On Sunday the feature of the day will be Indian canoe races in the harbor, starting at 2 p.m. Back in the city, at 3:30 p.m., a soccer game will be played between St. Andrews, Vancouver, and Nanaimo. The sports card will be brought to a conclusion at 7 p.m. with a softball game between Nanaimo and Ladysmith.

For the second year in succession, a ship of the Royal Canadian Navy will visit the port of Nanaimo to participate in Empire Day celebrations.

This year, the frigate H.M.C.S. Antigonish will be the visiting vessel. Last year a ship of the same class, H.M.C.S. Charlottetown, was in port.

Commanded by Lt.-Cmdr. J. E. Wolfenden, R.C.N. (R), of Vancouver, the Antigonish is currently carrying out a training cruise in British Columbia waters with men of University Naval Training Divisions from across Canada.

While it is expected that a portion of the ship's company of the Antigonish will participate in the parade, a highlight of the celebrations will be a visit to the ship by May Queen Jean Griffiths.

In a special invitation issued by Mayor George Muir, officers of H.M.C.S. Antigonish will attend a civic luncheon in the Hotel Malaspina.

Visiting hours for the general public aboard Antigonish will be announced on the ship's arrival at Nanaimo. Dances will be held for naval ratings.

B.C. Finds Businesses in Dark On Corporation Incomes' Tax

Corporation officials who are wondering what to do about payment of installments of the new 5 per cent provincial tax on corporation incomes should take their troubles to Dominion tax officials.

Although it's a provincial tax theoretically, Federal agencies will collect and administer it as part of the recently negotiated Dominion-Provincial tax agreement.

Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb said yesterday inquiries received by his department indicated a lack of understanding on the part of businesses and corporations concerning the application of the new tax, which is in addition to the 30 per cent corporation tax levied under the Dominion Income War Tax Act.

Passage of the Provincial Act early last month was mandatory under the agreement with Ottawa, but while British Columbia has done its part, Commons has not yet ratified the tax agreement.

NEW TAX FORMS NOT YET AVAILABLE

Consequently, British Columbia corporation income tax return forms are not yet available, although the Provincial Act came into force as of January 1, last.

Answer to pleas for enlightenment is, of course, that corporations should pay up anyhow.

Vancouver office of the Dominion Corporation Income Tax Division already has accepted installments from some firms, while waiting for the proper forms to come to hand, and is ready to go on doing so.

If any corporation officials are still in doubt as to what they should do, Mr. Anscomb urged yesterday that they should address their inquiries to the Director-General of Income Tax at Vancouver.

Making a volume of 45 pages of small print, the Corporation Income Tax Bill was allowed to pass through all readings in the Legislature almost without debate — because hardly anyone in the House could make head or tail of it.

As the Federal authorities will be acting on behalf of the province, wording of the British Columbia Act closely follows that of the Dominion Income War Tax Act. Appeals under it will go to the British Columbia Supreme Court, however.

Summarizing salient points with respect to the new tax, Mr. Anscomb pointed out that British Columbia was compelled to levy a 5 per cent tax on the incomes of corporations resident or doing business in the province. It will apply to incomes in this way:

1. Where a corporation has no permanent establishment outside British Columbia, the income subject to the British Columbia 5 per cent tax will be of the same amount as that subject to the Dominion 30 per cent tax.

2. Where a corporation has no permanent establishment in this province, no part of its income will be subject to the provincial tax.

3. Where a corporation has a permanent establishment in British Columbia and another outside the province, the income will be allotted to the two establishments as if they were operated by different independent persons.

EXPECT CLARIFICATION THROUGH RULINGS

"It is anticipated the determination of British Columbia taxable income will be clarified in due course by regulations and departmental rulings," the minister said.

The Act provides that where corporations have fiscal periods ending prior to December 31, 1947, the income will be apportioned between the 1946 and 1947 years on a pro rata daily basis.

Corporations are not required to file British Columbia returns for fiscal periods ending on or before December 31, 1946.

Provision is made in the Act for payment of the provincial tax on an installment basis, at the same time as installments of Dominion Income Tax. Where a corporation's fiscal year ends on or before September 30, 1947, the installments of tax accuring up to and including March 31, 1947, are not required to be paid until the due date of filing of returns; nor are tax payments of corporations with fiscal periods ending on or before March 31, 1947.

Premier Hart Back Sunday

PREMIER John Hart will return to Victoria on Sunday afternoon from his conferences in Eastern Canada on the proposed extension of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway and on Dominion social security plans, it was learned here yesterday.

He is accompanied by J. M. Stewart, deputy minister of railways, and his executive assistant, P. C. Richards.

Coal Tonnage Total Lower

Following the steady downward curve that has marked the production graph month by month for more than a year, Vancouver Island coal mines' output decreased by 6,944 long tons in April, from the 48,069-ton total for April last year, according to figures released yesterday by the Department of Mines.

Officials attributed the decline to shortage of miners, but anticipated an improvement in the labor situation this Summer.

Statistics for the Province as a whole showed a decrease of 8,877 tons from the April, 1946 total of 120,814 tons.

Only district to show an increase in production was East Kootenay, with 69,649 tons, which was 1,594 tons better than the month's output in 1946.

Nicola-Princeton was down to 3,828 tons, from 4,350, and Northern District dropped to 187 from 240.

Major producing mines on the Island were Comox Colliery, 16,123 long tons (21,923); No. 10 Mine, South Wellington, 19,794 (20,014), and White Rapids, 4,054 (4,924).

Find Man Guilty On Assault Count

Alfred Harcher was found guilty in city police court yesterday on a charge of assaulting Miss Josephine Doerflinger, 3572 Quadra Street, on December 8, last year, and occasioning her actual bodily harm and also of creating a disturbance by shouting and swearing on October 4, 1946. He was remanded until today for sentence on both counts. A second charge of assaulting Miss Doerflinger on November 9, 1946, also was remanded until today.

Evidence in the first assault case showed Miss Doerflinger had been struck on the right knee by a rock thrown by some person hiding behind a tree on Menzies Street about 5:30 p.m.

Wage Status Disappoints City Veterans

Old and new veterans employed at H.M.C. Dockyard, Esquimalt, as cleaners and helpers, yesterday expressed disappointment as a result of a recent ruling which will compel their transfer from "hourly-paid" status to "temporary civil service" at reduced wages.

According to R. Smith, representative of the group, the situation has been aggravated by a refusal to recognize or consider former period of "hourly-paid" services prior to tansfer.

"There are more than 60 employees affected by this procedure," said Mr. Smith. "Present wages are from 75-85 cents an hour, paid in accordance with length of service and nature of duties. Under the new civil service arrangements, men will be appointed at a salary of $100 a month, and regardless of constantly rising living costs, their monthly 'take-home' pay will be only $94 a month, with slight annual salary increases."

Mr. Smith said that letters have gone forward to Island members of the House of Commons urging them to have the classifications raised, and to have hourly-paid service considered as seniority for annual increments and qualifying time for leave.

Toy Club Display Attracts Interest

A large and enthusiastic gathering showed keen interest in toy-making when the B.C. Toy Club displayed its toys at a tea held in the club's headquarters at North Ward Community Hall. Generous contributions amounting to $53.75 were received.

Mrs. A. Mainprize, president, received the guests and tea arrangements were in charge of Miss M. Johnson. During the afternoon Misses Meta Hodge, Mary Stewart and Mrs. T. Quayle, Mrs. Fox and Mrs. McKenzie presided at the tea table. Mrs. Hicks, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Barr and Mrs. Kerslake were in charge of the Toy display tables.

A floor show, arranged by the management, was presented when youthful participants sang, danced and performed acrobatics.

Work meetings are held every Wednesday from 10:30 to 2 at headquarters, corner Rose Street and Kings Road. New members are welcome and monthly meetings are held on the first Wednesday of each month at headquarters.

Shipments of toys will leave Victoria in September to reach Britain for Christmas.

Used Car Market Booming

Business in the used car market was booming in British Columbia during March.

Figures issued by the Motor Vehicle Office yesterday show that 7,011 motor vehicles changed hands in that month, 1,766 more than in March last year; and by the end of the month 79 more men had gone into the business. That made a total of 324 dealers in the Province.

New vehicles, too, were coming into British Columbia faster. March brought in 1,029 brand new cars and 609 new commercial vehicles, compared with only 308 cars and 194 trucks in the third month of 1946.

By the end of March there were 136,097 motor vehicles of all types in the Province, with 177,173 persons licensed to drive them, showing an increase of 15,090 in the number of vehicles and 20,168 in the number of drivers. Of the vehicles, 101,798 were passenger cars and 34,299 commercial vehicles, increased by 9,449 and 5,641 respectively.

In addition, there were 2342 motorcycles, an increase of 595, and 4,624 trailers, an increase of 883.

Only decrease was in March registrations of vehicles, down 208 from the 22,604 total for March last year.

A total of 146 non-resident touring permits during the month showed an increase of 45 over the total for March, 1946.

The idea is to try and get back to looking like a Candy Shop again.

That is why you can see more candy on display, but not so with chocolates.

There has been no improvement in the chocolate coating supply, but small wonder when you read of their troubles with pests and labor shortages during the last few years.

Gas Tax Rebates to Be Made At Source to Eliminate Wait

Users of gasoline for purposes other than transportation will get their gasoline tax rebates at the source after June 2, instead of having to apply to the Government for refunds and then wait to get their money back.

Simplification of the system of tax rebates will be made possible through reintroduction of colored gasoline for industrial purposes, under the provisions of an act passed at the 1946 session of the Legislature and now proclaimed to come into operation June 2.

Coloring was in effect in wartime under Dominion regulations during the gasoline rationing period, to prevent fuel sold for essential industrial purposes being illegally diverted to non-essential use in automobiles. It was discontinued in August, 1945.

Under the Provincial statute, purple gasoline will now be sold at the pumps at nine cents a gallon less than the price for uncolored gasoline, since fuel for industrial uses pays only one cent of the normal ten-cent tax to the Province.

Stiff penalties are provided for wrongful use of purple gasoline, which may be purchased for the following purposes: Operation of motor boats, stationary engines, portable engines and tractors when used otherwise than on a public highway, logging trucks used exclusively on other than public highways, railway cars and other motor vehicles running on rails and tracks, and "any industrial purposes otherwise than in the operation of motor vehicles."

Announcing the new system yesterday, Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb emphasized that certain distinct advantages would accrue from the special marking of gasoline.

Under ordinary circumstances, he pointed out, a tax of ten cents a gallon is imposed. Purple gasoline, however, is taxed at only one cent. A consumer who buys purple gasoline thus will save himself the costly trouble of having to apply within six months from date of purchase for the refund to which he is entitled. In many instances the saving in bookkeeping will be considerable, the minister said. Departmental administration likewise will be simplified greatly.

The Government will supply oil companies with dye, free of charge and packaged in containers suitable for various gallonages.

Your Daily Forecast

By EDWARD A. WAGNER

PLANETARY DAILY GUIDE FOR THURSDAY, MAY 22, 1947

Keywords for the Day—Modesty, tenacity, faithfulness.

Thursday in General—This looks like a poor time for important social affairs. The accent is upon home and family matters with afternoon hours the most constructive for accomplishment and contracts.

If May 22 Is Your Birthdate: "Many happy returns." Famous persons born on this date include: Richard Wagner, composer; Thomas Danforth, pewterer; William Henry Brown, silhouettist.

Your Year Ahead—Many new and profitable fields of endeavor will open up. Family connections can help much. Be tenacious in money matters. Social-romantic affairs require a sense of humor.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

BLOWING ONE'S OWN HORN

Boasting, of course, under any circumstances, is in bad taste. But blowing one's own horn has a second count against it as inappropriate procedure—in the facts of the expression's origin.

Originally this saying was in the form of "sounding one's own trumpet." Perhaps its medieval flavor here discloses the nature of its beginning. In the tournaments and jousting matches of the days when knighthood was in flower. At that time the entry of the armored gallant on his prancing charger evoked no less excitement than the introduction of the boxers contending for a world's championship holds for fight fans today.

As the adversaries in their suits of mail rods into the arena, they were announced by the heralds with blasts on a trumpet. And no knight would think of himself sounding his own trumpet—any more than a gentleman today blows his own horn.

Shakespeare spoke of "The trumpet of his own virtues." And the old form of the phrase was preserved in literature as late as Victorian times by W. S. Gilbert, who in the beloved Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Ruddigore," gave us this:

"If you wish in this world to advance,
Your merits you're bound to enhance;
You must stir it and stump it,
And blow your own trumpet,
Or, trust me, you haven't a chance."

Also of interest here is the occasional reference to people "trumpeting their good deeds." This is an old allusion, to members of the Pharisaic sect called the Almsgivers, who had a trumpet sounded before them ostensibly to call out the poor, but really to announce their benevolence to the world.

Straw hats can be traced back to the Romans.

SALE PROCEEDS $58
